Japs Add To Russ Tension

By The Associated Press
Far-eastern tension was renewed today by a second incident on the border between Soviet Russia and Manchoukuo as the powers of Western Europe groped for a formula to secure their peace.

Just as tension was subsiding over Japan's charges that Russia had invaded Manchoukuo's soil near Chankufeng and Moscow's rejection of a Japanese protest, reports came of a new clash and Japanese landing on a disputed island.

DETACHMENT LANDS
Dispatches from Khabarovsk, a Siberian city near the Manchoukuo frontier, said two Japanese-Manchoukuo motorboats landed a military detachment Thursday on the Russian island of Faingov in the Ussuri river, north of the disputed Chankufeng area.

Talk of "peace-preserving" alignments stirred cautious optimism on Western Europe as British, French and German leaders sought a formula for settlement of the autonomy demands of Nazi-supported Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia.

NO NEW PROPOSALS
Some quarters close to the British government expressed the possibility of a non-aggression pact among Britain, France, Germany and either Soviet Russia or Italy. Another suggestion was reported German willingness to enter a pact with Czechoslovakia if the Sudeten problem could be solved. From authoritative sources, however, it was disclosed no new proposals were under consideration, although Prime Minister Chamberlain had given the German government "certain assurances" that Britain would continue her efforts in Paris for a solution of the minority problem. In Paris, opinion persisted in some quarters that the "German gesture" of peace might be a move by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler to weaken the relationship of France and Britain.

NAZI SALZBURG FIESTA OPENS

SALZBURG, Germany. (AP)—The curtain rose tonight on the first Nazi staging of the celebrated Salzburg festival with Wilhelm Fuertwangler conducting Wagner's "Meistersinger."

Paul Joseph Goebbels, German propaganda minister, earlier had cancelled the formal ceremony of opening the festival, giving rise to false rumors that Fuertwangler suddenly had withdrawn.

Goebbels, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, governor of German Austria, and other Nazi notables attended the opening performance. Asked for the reason for cancellation of the opening ceremony at which Goebbels was to have spoken, an official said it was dropped only to assure a prompt curtain-raising on the evening's opera.

Nan Brill Fears Extravagance Will Queer Proposal

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Nancy Brooks Macy Brill, who arrived here this week with W. R. Wilkerson from Los Angeles and went prospecting in a fish pond, where she got all wet, is hoping that Wilkerson will ask her to marry him but doesn't think he will because she is "too extravagant," she said today.

Referring to reports published in Los Angeles that she and Wilkerson are to be wed if she can get her present marital status untangled, she said she appreciated the complimentary mention, that Wilkerson is a very nice fellow and that she would marry him if she could and he was willing.

"It seems like I got a couple of husbands now," she added, "and that's a difficult position to be in."

Arab Riots Mar Holyland Tours

JERUSALEM. (AP)—A party of 180 American tourists was refused police permission today to visit Biblical spots in Galilee because of danger growing out of recent clashes between Arabs and Jews. The tourists were told they could visit the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem in groups of ten "at their own risk" due to danger of the church's collapse.

Margot Grahame Divorce Hinted

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Margot Grahame, English cinema actress, arrived here yesterday. Miss Grahame could not be reached today for comments on reports that she was here to divorce Francis Lister, English actor husband.

Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Sleep is such a mystery. Some call it a blessing. Others call it a curse. Too much sleep is like a poison. Too little sleep is even worse. Some get more than plenty. Others get hardly a wink. If we'd all get just the right amount. What a grand world! Don't you think? One goes to bed and right to sleep. One stays there, squirms and sighs. He couldn't sleep to save his life. No matter how he tries. Just lays right there and thinks and plans. Rolls over, with a wawn, and thru the night he keeps this up. Until the break of dawn. The sleeper wakes up feeling grand. He whistles and he'll sing. The sleepless one just wants to die. "Skinny," can you solve this thing? A. HALLAM THAYER.

Launching any column poetically, without Ed. Durling's consent, is an infringement, but if he won't stay home to protect himself it's his own fault. The edition introducing today's column belongs to A. Hallam Thayer, of Laguna Beach, and the party guilty for its appearance is Dave Browning, who introduced Thayer to this department, and with profit to the editor thereof. As for a solution, that goes to the profession for opiates. The authorities won't let me practice or prescribe without a license, and as the hillbilly says, "I ain't got it."

That fellow you saw last Thursday evening carrying a lantern wasn't Diogenes, and he wasn't looking for an honest man. He was on his way to the Hollywood Turf club to find the man who gave him the "hot" tip on the horse that hadn't come in yet, so my friend with the lantern wanted to find both—the liar and the horse.

I have just found out that a vacation spent in the backyard is only satisfactory to 50 percent of the contracting parties. You just get one signature, and the rest of it is dissatisfaction. So you might as well run your fingers over the vacation literature and decide you are going where the other 50 per cent wants to go. Hope you have a nice time.

And the Jack Kohlers are home from the old home. Took a trip back into Omaha and the state of Kansas where the Missouri river was clamoring for more space than the channel could accommodate. In order to give the visitors a welcome they didn't appreciate it, a tornado put some wind in the vacation sailing, and lightning spread its fangs in devious ways. Came right in the kitchen door. The welcome was entirely too vociferous for the Kohlers who were used to it. So they're home.

Candidates are so thick they are getting in each other's way, and workers are having elbow room. Met a diligent Dockweiler supporter who was soliciting a Dan Murphy vote. Fact this particular voter was helping manage the local Murphy campaign.

Friend who operates cleaning establishment says it is not infrequent to find money and checks in clothing brought in for service work. In his experience he has found checks for as large an amount as $1000, and currency discoveries are common. Often the customer is surprised when the proprietor notifies him that he had neglected to remove sums of money from the pockets before sending the clothes in to be cleaned, but so far as his experience is concerned the news has never been a disappointment. But, gee, isn't it a grand and glorious feeling to find something you didn't know you hadn't lost, especially when it's money.

Growing Offers to Make Money Annoy Corrigan, Who Says His Career Is in Air

DUBLIN. (AP)—Douglas G. Corrigan declared flatly today that "my career is in the air," as a growing assortment of commercial offers became annoying.

"I wish they would understand the only thing I am interested in is flying," said the young Californian, who arrived here Monday after a transatlantic flight in a $600 plane, as he was planning a "nice lazy week-end" before going to London to be the guest of American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

"I don't care what new job I take up when I get home so long as it has to do with flying and the prospects are good," he said. "The air has always been in my blood. My career is in the air." The staff of the American lega-

Calhoun Berserk In Jail

Charles Calhoun, 28-year-old ex-convict awaiting trial on murder charges, went berserk today in the county jail, attacking two other prisoners before five officers subdued him and took him to the county hospital.

Seized by what physicians believe to be a form of epileptic fit when he read a letter from his former wife, the tall, lanky "crying killer" attacked Lawson Gist, serving a term for a morals offense, and pursued Warren Marr, bunco suspect, before he was subdued.

GIST BITTEN
He had shot Clyde Dillinger, 30, his stepfather, over Dillinger's alleged mistreatment of Mrs. Calhoun. He read her letter calmly at 8 a. m. today, then suddenly jumped up, beating his head on the cell bars.

He turned on Gist, who rushed to meet him and was bitten on the right arm. He then charged on Marr, who retreated. Sheriff Logan Jackson, Jailer Theo. Lacy, jr., and three deputies were required to hold the biting, kicking prisoner so he could be shackled and gagged.

RECOVERY LIKELY
Still kicking and writing, Calhoun was carried to an ambulance and rushed to the county hospital for treatment. Two hypodermic injections administered by Dr. C. C. Violette, jail physician, had apparently no effect toward subduing the prisoner. Later condition was reported unchanged at the hospital, where physicians still were awaiting laboratory reports before making a definite diagnosis. Calhoun's seizure apparently was a form of epilepsy, physicians said as a preliminary diagnosis. They said he was in no danger and probably would recover.

INSANITY TO BE PLEA
Weeping almost constantly since his arrest June 26 after the shooting of Dillinger, cousin of the late gangster, John Dillinger, Calhoun has been morose and docile, fellow prisoners said. At arraignment, inquest and preliminary hearing he wept almost constantly, and sobbed openly when Dillinger's treatment of the prisoner's women relatives was mentioned. His defense on the murder charges was to be built partly around temporary insanity. Defense Attorney N. D. Meyer had said.

The wife's letter this morning had nothing of a startling nature in it, sheriff's officers said, but apparently the emotional strain was too much for the young Oklahoman.

Folsom Prisoner Ends Life In Cell

FOLSOM. (AP)—Harry L. Mayberry, Los Angeles convict at Folsom prison, ended his life in his cell today, Roy Taylor, secretary to Warden Clyde I. Plummer reported.

Taylor said Mayberry was found hanging by a piece of light cord. The cord, the secretary said, had been smothered in as it was not a part of the cell's equipment.

Norwegian Ship Missing Off Spain

GIBRALTAR. (AP)—Uncertainty surrounded the whereabouts today of the Norwegian 7031-ton steamer Ketty Brovig which was due at Gibraltar last night to take on passengers from Greece.

It was reported the Ketty Brovig was stopped in the straits by an armed insurgent trawler.

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The University of Santa Clara and St. Mary's college were each left $2500 if the will of Richard L. Cochrane, stepson of "Lucky" Baldwin of California and Nevada mining fame.

DISASTERS Deluge Along Atlantic

By The Associated Press
Torrential rains drenched the Eastern seaboard today, from Maine to Virginia, menacing highway travel, causing thousands of dollars of crop damage.

New York's great beaches, generally jammed at this season with thousands of persons, were sodden and gloomy after seven days of cloudy weather and rain. An overflow of 218 million gallons of water in the last 24 hours was reported at Groton lake, one of the city's water reservoirs.

Steady downpours in the Catskills isolated a number of villages, washed out roads and bridges, and shifted ancient boulders as if they were so many pebbles. Property damage was estimated to run into several hundred thousands dollars.

In Washington, D. C., J. B. Kincaid, chief of the climate and crop section of the U. S. weather bureau, said more rain may be expected tomorrow.

The weather bureau in Maine reported the wettest July since 1915, with rain falling 15 of the first 22 days.

In Eastern Pennsylvania rain has fallen for seven days, and crops were reported to have suffered the greatest damage in years.

Vast Texas Area Flooded

SAN SABA, Texas. (AP)—Ten or 12 persons were marooned in tree tops today at Pecan Grove as flooding waters at the junction of the Colorado and San Saba rivers spread over a great section of southwest Texas.

Mrs. Lawrence Hamrick, San Saba newspaperwoman, reported at noon three boatloads of men had departed down the San Saba rescue-bent.

Another downpour last night, measuring 3.5 inches, was reported to have sent the Colorado, which flows past Austin, on a 60-foot rise.

The San Saba, normally 2 to 3 feet deep, already had passed its previous record high of 42 feet, and was rising at the rate of 2.5 feet an hour.

The north side residential section under water and the muddy waters lapped close to the business area.

The number of homeless was increasing hourly. In San Saba between 400 and 500 sought shelter in the courthouse and in churches. Roughly, the present flooded area covered a territory about 100 miles long and 50 miles wide.

3 Die In Plane Crash

WOODRIDGE, Conn. (AP)—A United States navy bombing plane, flying blind in a driving rainstorm, crashed here today, killing the pilot and two passengers.

Officials at Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y., where the ship took off at 12:50 p. m., identified the men as:

Lieut. J. F. McDonough, of Boston, Mass.

Lieut. Junior Grade, W. J. Drumtra, of Gloucester, Mass.

Budge said there was "absolutely no ceiling."

L. A. HARBOR CHIEF GUILTY

LONG BEACH. (AP)—E. J. Amar, president of the Los Angeles harbor commission, was convicted early today of a charge that he knowingly rented quarters in a building on Pacific street in the harbor area with knowledge that it was used as a book-making place in violation of the law.

Amar, who had protested his arrest in the bookmaking establishment, was sentenced Wednesday. He faces a maximum jail sentence of one year.

Deputy District Attorney Harry Keeler told the jury "you haven't heard it asked, 'why doesn't the district attorney get the men at the top?' In this case, the defendant is the man at the top, a leader in his community."

Foe of Roosevelt Bills Wins Party Backing for Senate

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Designated by the Colorado Democratic assembly, Sen. Alva B. Adams, opponent of President Roosevelt's supreme court and reorganization bills, will enter the September primary election unopposed for renomination.

In a heated contest fought on the issues of administration support, Adams gained the designation over State Supreme Court Justice Benjamin C. Hilliard yesterday, receiving 1286 votes. Hilliard mustered 218.

Girdler Called For Senator Probe
WASHINGTON. (AP)—Chairman LaFollette (Prog., Wis.) said today the senate civil liberties committee had subpoenaed Tom Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel corporation in connection with its inquiry into the 1937 "little steel" strike.

T. F. Patton, Republic attorney, said that Girdler desired an opportunity to appear before the committee and that his testimony would be as "strong and picturesque" as that of labor leaders.

Coercion At Polls Charged

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Gov. William Langer of North Dakota, who was defeated by Senator Nye (R., N. D.) in the recent Republican senatorial primary in that state, complained to the senate campaign investigating committee today that relief workers were intimidated.

Chairman Sheppard (D., Tex.) announced he would call a committee meeting next week to consider the Langer complaint, another complaint by Senator George (D., Ga.) and recent political statements of Harry Hopkins, works progress administrator.

George complained to the committee that the Georgia director of the national emergency council had been dismissed because he proposed to vote for me in the Georgia Democratic senatorial primary. NEC Chief Lowell Mellett responded that "the senator's being a little ridiculous," and said the Georgia official resigned.

Hopkins became a subject of committee interest this week when he said at a press conference that he believed 90 per cent of the people on federal work relief rolls were for President Roosevelt.

Sheppard said he was wiring other committee members he wanted to have a meeting "not later than Wednesday or Thursday of next week to consider all matters that have developed."

Langer's complaints were made in response to a committee questionnaire. The North Dakota governor said he had received "reports of WPA workers being intimidated" and also of "the wrongfulness of the senate franking privilege."

Senator Nye previously had complained to the committee about what he called "excessive absentee ballots."

Grape Pro Rate Assured By Loan

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Financing of the 1938 California grape crop under a proposed grape pro-rata program was assured today when a syndicate of California banks offered a $7,000,000 loan.

In advising the statewide grower and vintner committees of the loan commitments, a bankers' committee said, in addition, that wineries would be financed sufficiently to produce approximately $8,000,000 for grapes to be made into commercial wine.

Japanese Refused Philippine Iron

MANILA. (AP)—National Development company, agency of the Philippine commonwealth government, disclosed today it had turned down the offer of a Japanese firm to exploit part of the Surigao government-owned iron mines on a royalty basis.

Officials said the Japanese company offered a royalty of 25 cents a ton which would have assured the commonwealth a clear profit of $12,500,000.

Idaho Indians End Three-Day Dance

FORT HALL, Idaho. (AP)—Half-starved, parched and exhausted, two small groups of Bannock-Shoshone Indians ended a three-day marathon dance to the sun at sunrise today.

The dancers conquered their weariness long enough to quench thirst, then lay down on pallets for 24 hours rest. Tomorrow they will feast, principally on watermelons and soda pop which, they say, revives them more quickly than stouter food.

STRIKE ENDS MONDAY

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—CIO workers announced today that probably 1400 employees of American Can Co. here and in Los Angeles would return to work Monday pending negotiations.

HOLLYWOOD MAN ROBBED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Lewis C. Baines, of Hollywood, Cal., reported to police the theft of $1300 in cash and articles valued at $300 from his automobile trailer here.

Neptune Orders Pollywogs On President's Ship Ready For Crossing of Equator

ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON IN EQUATORIAL PACIFIC. (AP) President Roosevelt and his party aboard the cruiser Houston passed the half way mark early today in their 1300-mile voyage from Clipperton island to the Galapagos group.

The Equator lay only 270 miles due south from the Houston's position and preparations were under way to initiate those aboard who had not crossed the line before.

Temperatures in this tropical area of the Pacific remained surprisingly low and weather forecasters said there was little prospect they would rise above 85 degrees.

President Roosevelt continued his study of various government reports and was in constant communication with Washington.

"Neptunes Rex," king of the deep, also established direct communication with the President for the first time. Neptune said it was with great pleasure that he awaited the President's second visit to his realm and that he would be prepared to greet him again.

He also inquired whether those aboard the Houston and the escort destroyer McDougal were all "loyal subjects of mine or if you have aboard any 'pollywogs'?"

The President promised to give Neptune the names of the "pollywogs" for such action as Neptune might take when the ships arrive at the Equator, probably Monday.

14, Asks Divorce

Mrs. Irene Poonian, 14-year-old mother, sued her 28-year-old husband, Paritem Poonian for divorce at Auburn, charging he forced her to "adopt the ways of the Hindu race" in their Roseville home. She also asks custody of their infant son.

The three were found only three miles west of Perpetual Ice Caves, southwest of here, where they had left their automobile Tuesday to explore the weird lava country on foot.

SLOOP STOLEN AT NEWPORT

Three Brea youths and a fourth companion from Bakersfield were being held for investigation by Coast guard officials in San Pedro today following their arrest on a 25-foot auxiliary sloop which the owner, James K. Lawler of Gardena, reported stolen from Newport harbor Thursday night.

The craft's engine had broken down and the youths had drifted helplessly last night in Catalina channel, Coast guard officers said.

The boys gave their names as James Clark, 17; Shirley Hodges, 16; Clifford Miller, 16, all of Brea, and James Moore, 16, Bakersfield.

Officers expressed belief the youths may have attempted to emulate the three boys who recently took the yacht "Tira" at Santa Cruz and sailed her down to the coast of Mexico.

'Two-Ton' Tony Is Seriously Ill

ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—Tony Galento's condition remained serious today as the pudgy New Jersey heavyweight boxer lay "floored" in a hospital bed with a sudden attack of broncho-pneumonia.

Taken ill last night, a few hours after his trainers had announced he would start "tapering off" for his bout with light heavyweight King John Henry Lewis in Philadelphia July 26, Galento was taken to the Orange Memorial hospital with a fever of 104.4. He was immediately placed in an oxygen tent.

Swedish Prince Sails for Home

NEW YORK. (AP)—Smiling farewell to 1000 admirers, Crown Prince Gustav Adolf of Sweden sailed for his home land today, ending a 26-day visit to the United States.

With him went the Crown Princess Louise and his third son, Prince Bertil, made happy by the gift of an automobile from Henry Ford.

Helen Wills Sprains Back

SEABRIGHT, N. J. (AP)—Charles D. Halsey, chairman of the tournament committee of the Seabright Lawn Tennis club, today said that Helen Wills Moody would not be able to compete in the tourney which starts on Monday because she had sprained her back while packing a trunk.

Ambulance Speeds To Spilled Catsup

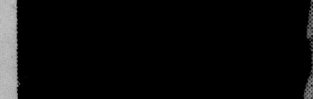

There was a crash. A truck overturned, and neighbors saw an ominous red trickle flow out from under the driver's compartment.

So someone called an ambulance. Sirens screamed, an Orange county ambulance service car wheeled to a stop. Then police and an ambulance man discovered it wasn't blood. It was catsup, oozing from a broken bottle the delivery truck was carrying.

The accident happened at Haldaday and Chestnut streets shortly after noon today. No one was injured.

Million Texans Decide Today Between 12 Would-Be Governors

$80 A MONTH AGED PENSIONS PLEDGE OF ONE

AUSTIN, Texas. (P)—Houston, only city reporting an early count in the hot Texas election, showed an unofficial total of 430 votes, with W. Lee O'Daniel, Fort Worth flour dealer, leading in the governor's race.

The count was: O'Daniel, 193; McGraw, 131; Thompson, 77; Hunter, 40.

In Dallas thousands swarmed around the voting places with the voting machines unable to accommodate them.

AUSTIN, Texas. (P)—A million citizens stepped into balloting booths today for a showdown on the most unpredictable issue in Texas political history—the potency of mountain music.

Not since the incredible race that Blacksmith, Bob Williams made in 1908 without ever leaving his forge, or, perhaps, the dark horse run of Farmer Jim Ferguson in 1914, has the electorate been so excited by a gubernatorial scramble.

A new personality, W. Lee O'Daniel, converted the campaign into a traveling circus. The Fort Worth flour broker campaigned atop a sound truck with a blaring hillbilly band and a promise of $80 monthly pensions for the aged—whether they be millionaires or indigent.

Never has the Democratic primary field bulged with such strength. O'Daniel's chief opponents are Atty. Gen. William McGraw, who was re-elected without opposition four years ago; Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, proponent of low utility rates, and Tom Hunter, Wichita Falls oil man and three-time candidate who never has polled less than 200,000 votes.

O'Daniel pecked away at the "professional politicians" in his closing speech last night and asserted he favored the working man. McGraw said he hoped Texas would declare an end to petty quarreling and sordid politics. Thompson renewed his pledge to industrialize the state, and Hunter said he was eager to slice $15,000,000 from the state budget.

Eight others, including Karl A. Crowley, former solicitor for the postoffice department and James A. Ferguson of Bell county, kin of Farmer Jim, filled out the even dozen gubernatorial aspirants.

Eight weeks ago O'Daniel was unknown to politics—but a household word to rural radio listeners who, for a decade, had heard his informal chats on a commercial floor program. To his casual mention that he might run for governor "against these professional politicians" came a response of 55,000 letters from his radio listeners. He said he took their advice and announced for office.

18 ATTEND INSULL RITES

LONDON. (P)—Samuel Insull, who rose from poverty to rule and lose a $4,000,000 utility empire, was buried today in a simple, golden oak casket in the Putney Vale cemetery.

The last chapter of the fabulous life story of the magnate who died at the age of 78, of a heart attack in Paris just a week ago, was almost as modest as the first one. Eighteen persons followed the plain coffin to the grave beneath a hawthorne tree.

The cortege walked past the family plot where are buried the mother and father of Insull who, as a cockney youth, went to the United States with "tuppence" and climbed financial heights.

Harry Gordon Selfridge, American department store owner in London, and his son, Harry Gordon Selfridge, jr., were among the mourners.

Insull's widow, in deep mourning, sobbed audibly at the open grave.

British Defense Wins War Games

LONDON. (P)—Defenders of the east coasts of England and Scotland have repulsed an invading "enemy" fleet, an official admiralty announcement said today.

The maneuvers, with the fleet, air force and army participating, were the largest of their kind in the peacetime history of England.

Bootblack Starts Extortion Term

DETROIT. (P)—Jack Weaver, 21-year-old bootblack, was sentenced today to serve eight years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., for sending an extortion note to Walter S. McLucas, Detroit banker, demanding $5000. He pleaded guilty to an extortion charge.

German Catapult Plane Ends Transatlantic Flight

EMPLOYERS' ROUNDUP, AIM

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—A renewed drive to complete registration of approximately 13,000 California employers who hire from four to seven persons each, will be conducted by the state department of employment.

Peter D. Kristich, department representative here, in announcing the drive today said that in San Francisco there are approximately 2687 employers who have failed to register with the department and, as a result, their employees do not have sufficient protection on job insurance.

"Actually, little more than half of the known employers in the four to seven group have registered with the department," Kristich said, "leaving nearly 70,000 unprotected workers in the state. This factor is important with the approach of the third quarter of 1933, because after Sept. 30 any employer who has worked in this category has a valid claim if he or she is out of a job."

'Hoppers Invade Canada Province

REGINA, Sask., (Canadian Press)—F. H. Auld, Saskatchewan deputy minister of agriculture, said today a large cloud of grasshoppers that flew over Regina yesterday had not yet caused heavy damage to crops "in the province as a whole." The invasion lasted for about half an hour.

Approximately one quarter of the nation's total population is enrolled in schools and colleges.

Mary McCormic Is Through With 'Singing for Sandwich,' She Asserts After Concert

PIERRE, S. D. (P)—Mary McCormic, operatic soprano, is through "singing for ham sandwiches," she said emphatically here. After someone—it wasn't quite clear who—tricked her into an unwilling performance in South Dakota's capital city.

Here for a Kiwanis club sponsored concert, she balked at financial arrangements and flatly refused to sing. Shortly afterward, it was learned today, a bell boy at her hotel handed her a legal appearing paper. Unless she went on with the concert, it read, her property would be attached.

Miss McCormic's expensive automobile stood out front. She took a look at it. Then went to the concert hall and sang.

Today both Kiwanis club members and county officials said they knew nothing about any such document having been given to the singer.

Miss McCormic told a newspaperman her Pierre performance was worth "just about $12." The Kiwanis club reported it paid her more than $30.

Oilmen Oppose Venezuela Pact

LOS ANGELES. (P)—Stating that institution of the proposed reciprocal trade agreement with Venezuela would jeopardize California's Atlantic market, Oil Producers Agency of California has called a meeting of producers for Tuesday.

The meeting will be held to coordinate opposition to the proposed trade agreement which the agency claims would threaten oil field employment and the eastern lower grade oil market.

JAP BOMBERS RAID CANTON

CANTON. (P)—Eighteen Japanese bombers raided Canton today, damaging a new power station in the Saichuen district, which adjoins the international settlement on Shamhean island.

Although the bombs dropped a good two times from the settlement, doors and windows were rattled violently by the concussion. The bombs were believed to have been unusually large.

The raiders directed their main attacks at the Saichuen cement works and loop line between the Canton-Hankow and the Canton-Kowloon railways.

The raid occurred two hours after Sir Geoffrey Northcote, governor of Hongkong, departed after a two-day visit.

Soldier Kills Girl, Wounds Self

DECATUR, Ga. (P)—Sergeant George Jackson of the Dekalb county police, said a 16-year-old girl was shot to death and her soldier sweetheart critically wounded early today in a "lover's suicide pact."

Sergeant Jackson said the girl was Sara George of Tucker, Ga., and the man Richard H. Denhem, 21-year-old private stationed at Fort McPherson in Atlanta.

Sergeant Jackson said Denhem, held in an Atlanta hospital under technical arrest, admitted shooting the girl and wounding himself.

The most expensive saddles, made of handworked leather and chased with silver, sold from $200 to $250. A Californian man recently paid the record top price of $2000 for a saddle.

WEATHER STILL REMARKABLE

WASHINGTON. (P)—A weather bureau official described as "remarkable" today the soggy weather that has drenched the Atlantic and gulf coasts for the last week.

J. B. Kincer, chief of the climate and crop section, said the rainfall was remarkable because although it had continued daily since Monday, the precipitation was not heavy enough to set any records.

A strip along the coast from East Texas to the Atlantic and northeastward to New England, Kincer said, is in the "rain-belt." Inland it is much drier. Kincer predicted the rains would prevail for at least another day.

BOARD CHIEF GIVES SHERIFF HIGH PRAISE

"Highest regard" for the integrity of Sheriff Logan Jackson was expressed today by Chairman Willard Smith of the board of supervisors, in explaining why he signed a complaint filed by Special Counsel Edgar B. Hervey for return of $75,000 in alleged fee money held by Jackson.

Smith said he signed the complaint prepared by the San Diego attorney at the request of the county board and in his position as chairman only. His personal opinion of the matter, he said, is at variance with that of the rest of the board.

Hervey filed suit this week in superior court, alleging Jackson has in his possession fees, profits from prisoner feeding and profits from transportation and the jail commissary totaling $75,000 to which the county is entitled. The action was the latest development in the hectic fee squabble precipitated last year when the supervisors passed a county salary ordinance requiring five officials to turn their statutory fees over to the county and accept in their stead flat salaries.

"Owing to certain misunderstandings," said Smith, "concerning the suit of the board of supervisors against the sheriff, I think it proper to make an explanation of my personal position. Under the instructions of the board and in my capacity as chairman, I was under the necessity of signing the complaint as a routine duty as chairman."

"Neither the contents of the complaint nor the attitude of any member of the board represents my personal viewpoint as to the sheriff's office. As a matter of fact I have the highest regard for the integrity of Logan Jackson and consider his administration as both honest and efficient. I make this statement in justice to both Logan Jackson and myself."

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—C.I.O. warehousemen made ready today to add eight stationary warehouses Monday to the 13 paper and sanitary supply firms struck last Saturday.

A proposal for settlement offered by the association of San Francisco distributors, employer group, was dubbed "no peace offer" by Don McGuire, union business agent.

For its stationary firm members the association proposed a January, 1940, expiration date for new contracts, extension of existing agreements to that date, and the granting of certain union demands in liquor warehouse and sanitary supply contracts.

The plan, said employers, would "insure peace through the expiration year."

Answer to Man's Question Fatal

DENVER. (P)—D. V. Bradford, 28, of Clovis, N. M., died today in Denver general hospital and found the final answer to a question he asked last night of a friend:

"I wonder what would happen if a train bumped those cars?"

An Bradford sat on a railroad siding with John Gregg, 32, of Amarillo, Texas, his right leg was severed and his left leg crushed when a switch engine bumped the cars to which he pointed when he spoke to Gregg. Gregg jumped away safely.

Los Angeles. (P)—Herman Ray, 45, of Long Beach, serving a term for peace disturbance, was found dead on the floor of his padded cell in the county jail today.

Gamble Fatal as Gun Wheel Stops On Wrong Number

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (P)—Coroner Fred G. Eaton ordered an inquest today into the death of Carl F. Sherman, 18, who, Dr. Eaton said, shot himself fatally while demonstrating "how Russians gamble for their lives."

The coroner said the shooting took place last night in the presence of two employees of a hotel operated by Sherman's parents.

Dr. Eaton quoted the pair as saying that Sherman inserted a single cartridge in a borrowed revolver, spun the cylinder, put the weapon to his head and pulled the trigger. The hammer fell on the one loaded cylinder.

Mother of 6 Held In Delinquency Case

Accused of contributing to the delinquency of her six minor children by remaining in a drunken condition for long periods of time, Mrs. Margaret Soto, 37, 907 Starford street, today awaited preliminary hearing before Justice Kenneth Morrison.

Mrs. Soto was arraigned today and hearing set for next Tuesday, with bail fixed at $500. The complaint on which she was arrested yesterday was signed by Deputy Sheriff R. E. Steinberger.

Surplus Prunes May Not Be Picked

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—The state agricultural prorate commission, after a two-day hearing, today took under advisement the prune program committee's plan to let surplus prunes go unpicked.

Supporters of the proposal claimed it would save some $2,000,000 in harvest costs and assure a two or two and a half cent price.

ECHO OF EDEN OIL CASE SET FOR AUG. 5

Motion by attorneys for the Eden Oil company, plaintiff in a sensational suit against the county last year, to strike a $127 cost bill by the county was continued yesterday afternoon to Aug. 5.

That date also will set a motion for new trial argued by Lew Blodgett and Charles Swanner, attorneys for the plaintiff company in last year's now-famous Eden oil case, which disclosed that the county had accepted road oil containing mud and water above the allowable percentage.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames granted the continuance yesterday afternoon on motion of attorneys for Don Jerome and William Iverson, owners of the Eden firm. B. Z. McKinney, special counsel for the county in the case, had listed $127 court costs and filed the bill in the case. Attorneys for the Eden firm resisted that move on ground Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warner's findings in the case made no provision for either side to pay costs.

Judge Warner, brought here from San Bernardino to try the case, denied the Eden firm's suit for $1729.70 for oil delivered the county in 1936 on grounds it contained large percentages of water; and also denied the county's cross-complaint for $3330 for damage done to county roads, remarking the amount of damage would be difficult to fix.

Parking Lots

Traffic congestion is a major problem, and vigilant police are among life's smaller worries for Santa Ana motorists who park overlong in downtown areas—but on both congestion and police watchfulness depend the business of a dozen local enterprises.

Proprietors of Santa Ana parking lots thrive, for example, each Saturday night when the parking situation is at its worst. It's a dull Saturday when attendants at the local "auto-nurseries" don't spend most of the evening turning away customers who arrived too late to find parking room.

Majority of the lots are operated in connection with other businesses—mostly service stations, sometimes garages. Only two maintained exclusive of side-lines are the "American Auto Park" lots at Fifth and Sycamore streets and on Bush between Third and Fourth streets. Operator of both is Michael Michaels.

Rates are kept fairly uniform all over town (10 cents an hour, 15 cents a day, $3 a month), but they're based pretty much on supply and demand, consequently are boosted slightly during busy days and busy seasons.

Right now is one of the poorest parking-lot seasons, since free parking on the streets isn't at such a premium. Even sufficient night will bring in sufficient crowd to keep local lots well filled. December ordinarily is busiest month, because of large numbers of Christmas shoppers. Best hours of the ordinary day are 9:30-11:30 a. m., with the period from 2-4 p. m. also "packing 'em in."

Best business for parking lots comes from office and store workers, shoppers and theater-goers. Women are more willing to pay money to park than are men, and nine-tenths of the customers are regular ones, rather than people who drive into a parking lot only after diligent search for a free parking place.

Though parking all day costs only five cents more than stopping in for a few minutes, lot attendants find a surprising number of customers who drive in, spend two minutes making a minor purchase, then pay their 10 cents and drive away. Customers often return before attendants have had time to put the car away.

Average parking at a stretch is around two hours, and average patron, peculiarly, parks in a lot because he's afraid he's got a ticket for parking more than two hours out on the street. (There's always an increase in parking lot business after the police start "clamping down" on overtime parkers.)

Only full-time parking attendants in town are Bradley and Bascom Combs, brother who man Michaels' two lots. When they're busy, work for them is varied from minding babies who've been left in cars to fixing tires that suddenly go flat in busy times. Though, like business, parking is monotonous, and the Combs brothers get a lot of magazine reading done.

Procedure in a parking lot calls for the customer to present a ticket before he drives away with the car. The procedure frequently is thrown out of kilter, however, when patrons lose tickets, or when the car owner's wife comes without proper identification to get the auto.

To avoid possibility of thefts, attendants naturally must be careful to identify anyone who comes for a car. Record of local parking lots still is clean: There's never been a theft. (One man claimed his car was stolen, but investigation showed he was fairly intoxicated and that his wife, who had taken his ticket, came to get the car.)

Big number of parking lot customers insist on locking their cars, which isn't as inconvenient most times as it is when there's a capacity crowd. Attendants usually enforce the practice, since they feel less uneasy when they're able to move any car in the lot if occasion demands.

One frequently-heard remark always amuses custodians: "I've looked all over the darn town for a parking place, but I guess I'll have to park here." Lots would go broke if they depended entirely on such begrudging customers, attendants concede.

Though not legally responsible for damage to cars, attendants prefer to park customers' autos for them, figuring that way there's less danger of the customer scratching another car. When attendants dent someone's fender, they usually volunteer to have it fixed.

They rarely have to do any major mechanical work on patrons' cars, but parking lot custodians have numerous other chores to perform—like unsticking stuck starters, changing tires, pushing cars whose batteries have gone dead.

In parking lots that have "tie-ups" with downtown merchants, the stores customarily give customers free tickets, with the store owner paying full price of the "parking ticket."

Laguna Beach Cafe Case Submitted To Equalization Board

CITY SLEUTH'S TACTICS ARE PROTESTED

Alleged tactics of a "secret investigator" for the city of Laguna Beach were rapped yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Mona Harris, appearing at a state board of equalization hearing to fight cancellation of her liquor license for Mona's Studio club, Bohemian cafe in the art colony.

City officials, Mrs. Harris testified, hired an unidentified man to get evidence on her so her establishment could be closed.

"He told me he had just had an operation and was having a hard time trying to get used to a wooden leg," she told Judge Franklin Cole, examiner for the state board. "I felt quite kindly toward him."

"He asked a friend of mine about narcotics in the place, attempting to get information. . . . She told him she never knew of anything of that sort around there. . . . After this so-called raid I did tell him I resented his attitude and the hardship he had tried to work on that girl."

Decision on revocation of the license was taken under advisement, and the state board will announce its verdict later.

Charges made by city officials and some neighbors were that patrons of the establishment were noisy and behaved in a disorderly manner on the streets and in neighbors' yards.

Mrs. Harris presented a petition bearing 200 names which classed the "attack . . . wholly unjustified. . . it has always been run in an orderly, well-regulated manner."

Most of the testimony was presented by Mrs. Harris. Protests against the establishment were registered by several policemen and Laguna residents, including some neighbors.

Laguna Beach Club Sharply Hits Ambulance Services In Letter to County Board

Sharp criticism of existing ambulance services here was laid in the lap of the board of supervisors today by the First Aid Club of Laguna Beach, demanding an investigation.

Charges that ambulance attendants often are not even qualified to administer first aid, and that drivers are untrained and that some ambulances do not even carry first aid equipment were made in a letter signed by Mabel Pierce Thompson, secretary of the club, sent to the county board.

"It was reported to our organization," the letter said "that . . . ambulances operating in our county to pick up wreck victims or transport injured persons are not provided with surgeons, internes or even trained first aiders. Further, that in some cases a regular driver is maintained and when a call comes in the 'ambulance' concern telephones or goes out on the street for a driver."

"If this is true, an ordinary grocery or laundry truck would serve as well, if it carried some kind of stretcher. However, it would not rate the exorbitant fees often charged these unfortunates on the assumption of furnishing ambulance service."

"It may not be practical to provide a surgeon or interne with every ambulance, but there is certainly no excuse for not furnishing a certified first aider. We have had six adult classes here in the last year and an authorized instructor will charge nothing for such training can be contacted through any Red Cross chapter."

"It is said that some of these 'ambulances' do not even carry first aid equipment, which is probably just as well if they carry no one trained to use it."

The club suggested attendants certified as first aiders by the Red Cross if it is impossible to provide internes or surgeons, and proper first aid kits.

"As the justice of charging ambulance fees for ordinary truck service, there is grave danger for the unfortunate victim, since frequently the method of placing the patient on a stretcher, even, may serve to compound the brain or spinal cord with a silver of bone."

The club asked a county-wide investigation by the board and corrective measures if the reports are found to be true.

MISSIONARIES SPEAK IN C. M.
COSTA MESA. — The July meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. E. A. Randall, 2454 Newport boulevard. Devotions were led by Mrs. E. L. Bennett, her subject being "Go Ye and Preach."

Mrs. W. A. Compton conducted the Stewardship ritual and also spoke on "Tithing in Christian Stewardship." The study topic, which included the Moslems, countries of Turkey, Persia and India, was in charge of Mrs. Elmer Clark.

Mrs. Ida Kahls, retired deaconess of Robin Court home, Pasadena, told her experiences in leper colonies. Mrs. C. H. Fowler, also of Pasadena, told of her work as a home missionary in the Kentucky mountains.

July birthday anniversaries were observed in honor of Mrs. Alice Howard and Mrs. W. A. Compton. Present were Mesdames Fred Long, Angeline Allen, E. L. Bennett, Minnie V. WOMAN LEFT BY ROAD; 3 SAILORS FLEE

An apparently intoxicated woman, assertedly left lying by the side of the road by three sailors, was picked up by a passing motorist near Seal Beach early today, taken to the Huntington Beach police department and finally booked on drunk charges in the county jail.

Bennie Main, Wilmington fireman, told police he was driving near Seal Beach when he saw three sailors run from the side of the road, jump into an auto and drive away rapidly. He took their license number, then investigated and found the woman lying in a ditch alongside the road.

Giving no explanation, the prisoner was booked at the county jail as Nadine Cruff, 36, Long Beach waitress.

PAIR RETURNS FROM JOURNEY INTO MEXICO

The July issue of The California Citigraph, contains the following items of interest to and about Orange county people, and Orange county industries:

Carl V. Newman of the San Joaquin Fruit and Investment company and citrus grower, and George B. Hodgkin, manager of the Calavo exchange, have recently returned from a trip to Mexico. After studying avocado conditions there they spent a few days at Guaymas, Mexico, fishing. Their recital of what they saw and heard is very interesting and those who have an opportunity to quiz them concerning the trip should do so.

Valencia orange growth rates in June compared favorably with the average on both outside and inside fruits, reports the Association Laboratory, Anaheim. Fruit sizes on July 1, 211 per box for outside and 212 for inside fruits, were materially larger than have been reported since 1933 and were larger than the 14-year average. On the same date in 1937 the averages were 224 packing size for outside fruits and 242 for inside fruits.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Meier of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Harrison of Santa Ana and Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Smith of Laguna and Capistrano, with a party of several other citrus growers, are now touring Europe. They went on a personally conducted tour and expect to be back in September.

Mutual Orange Distributors is experimenting with shipping fruit in sacks instead of the usual wooden boxes. Each sack holds 54 pounds of fruit and a carload consists of 6706 sacks which is equal to 479 standard 80-pound boxes.

Religious Liberals Will Be Discussed

Stressing the theme of Liberalism in Religion as her third sermon of the July series, Rev. Julia Budlong will seek to answer the questions "What does it mean to be 'Free in Religion'? Free from what and for what and who?" Sunday at the Unitarian church.

The town meeting on Tuesday will hear candidates for recorder and for treasurer. The public is invited to all services and meetings.

Termination of Tenancy Sought

Termination of the joint tenancy interest of the late Henry J. McComb of Santa Ana, who died July 16, in notes and real estate was asked today in a superior court petition by the widow, Mrs. Sophie A. McComb.

The property, she said, consists of promissory notes totaling $8700 and one parcel of Santa Ana real estate.

11 HEIRS TO SHARE ESTATE

The $10,500 estate of the late William F. Christen, who died in Anaheim July 13, will be distributed among two sons, four daughters and five stepchildren under terms of his will, on file today for probate in superior court.

The will, dated Sept. 17, 1936, distributed interests in a 10-acre orange ranch near Anaheim worth approximately $10,000 and personal property.

Residuary legatees are a son, David G. Christen of Alameda, named executor in the will; and the daughters, Mrs. Leonora Benedict, Mrs. Elsa Messler and Mrs. Lillie Flood, all of Pasadena, and Mrs. Martha Christen Holtz of Baldwin Park. In addition the son and Mrs. Messler are given cash bequests of $600 and $200, respectively.

Of the stepchildren, Edith May Eshelman of Venice gets $10, Anne E. Perry of Los Angeles $100, Hattie A. Annin of Bell, $10, Nellie Grant Adams of San Pedro $15, and Arthur Perry of Hawthorne $5.

Dust Bowl Yields No Oil

LAMAR, Colo. (AP)—The dust bowl has another disappointment. An oil company drilling 70 miles southeast of here in the hope a producer could be brought in on the barren lands of the "bowl" announced it is abandoning its test at a depth of 5502 feet because there has been no showing of oil.

STATE SUES CO-OPERATIVE FOR PROPERTY

Newport Beach's unit of the United Cooperatives, state-sponsored self-help organization for potential relief clients, was in official disfavor today as the state accused its members of refusing to return more than $8000 worth of borrowed equipment.

Suit was filed in superior court to dispossess the cooperative and its 33 members by Attorney General U. S. Webb. Besides the property or its value of $8235.71, damages of $1500 were asked for illegal detention of the property, which includes farm and shop equipment and trucks.

The cooperative, Webb's complaint alleged, applied after its organization in 1935 for loans of state-owned machinery to conduct the organization's barter business, agreeing to return it when demanded. Last March, the complaint continues, SEA and other state officials demanded return of the property—but members of the cooperative defied them and refused to turn it over.

Named as defendants in the case, in addition to 30 John and Jane Does, are the United Cooperatives of Orange county, Newport Beach unit, Mrs. Dorothy Abbott, A. S. Allen, E. Armstrong, Mrs. L. Beaudette, Fred Beck, O. O. Bland, K. C. Brown, May Buckland, Mrs. Burns, Jack Bush, Mrs. Alice Crawford, Mrs. Nellie Davidson, Mrs. Esther Evans, H. R. Hall, C. E. Hall, E. SCREEN ATTRACTIONS AT SANTA ANA THEATERS

'ALGIERS' AT BROADWAY

Hailed by critics as a "superlative dramatic production," "Algiers" comes to the screen of the Broadway theater tomorrow with a cast headed by Charles Boyer, Sigrid Gurie, Hedy Lamarr, Alan Hale, Joseph Calleia, Gene Lockhart and others.

Depicted in Oriental mood and setting, "Algiers" appeals to men because it builds suspense and action through the maneuvers and the death between the fiction character, Pepe le Moko, at bay in the native quarter of Algiers, and provincial French detective. Women like the film for the romance between Charles Boyer and Hedy Lamarr, with a triangle problem presented by Miss Gurie. Boyer gives one of his most polished performances as the romantic jewel thief—fugitive from Paris, living with the Algerian, Sigrid Gurie. He is on semi-friendship terms with Joseph Calleia, the detective.

Calleia is at his best, getting his quarry through the action of one of the two women who love the crook. Miss Gurie's portrayal builds to dramatic tension as, torn between love and fear, she seeks to save Boyer from his doom and in the end betrays him out of her jealous affection.

How a morally innocent man is imprisoned for a crime committed in the cause of true justice is depicted in "Blind Alibi," Richard Dix's current starring film which is the second half of the double bill. The story presents the experiences of a sculptor forced to go outside the law to defeat the efforts of a blackmail ring.

Shirley Temple Film Coming

"Little Miss Broadway," Shirley Temple's latest starring picture has been completed and is scheduled for its opening at the West Coast theater next Wednesday, it was announced today by Manager George King.

The cast which supports Shirley is headed by George Murphy, Jimmy Durante, the comic; Phyllis Brooks, young blonde beauty, and Edna Mae Oliver, George Barbier and others.

Six tunes by Walter Bullock and Harold Spina, ranging from ballads to swing, lend themselves to Shirley's singing.

'Brooklyn Cowboy' Ends Run Here

"Cowboy from Brooklyn" shows for the last time tonight at the Broadway theater with Dick Powell, Pat O'Brien and Priscilla Lane heading the cast.

Second feature on the closing program is "Penrod's Double Trouble," a story of what happens to a bunch of crooks when the junior G-men get after them. Billy and Bobby Maugh are starred.

Latest release of the March of Time, a cartoon and world news events complete the program.

Billy Halop and Humphrey Bogart appear here in a tense scene from "Crime School," opening at Walker's theater tomorrow. On the same program is "The Divorce of Lady X."

'Michael O'Halloran'

Warren Hull and Jackie Moran in "Michael O'Halloran" coming to the State theater tomorrow. The film also stars Hope Manning, Barry and Rex Downing, Wynn Gibson, Robert Greig and Sidney Blackmer.

'Professor Beware' Arriving Soon

The biggest supporting cast in the history of a Harold Lloyd comedy is featured with the nutty funster in "Professor Beware," coming soon to the Broadway theater.

Following "Professor Beware," the Broadway will show "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," a fascinating crime story with Edward G. Robinson, Claire Trevor, Humphrey Bogart and Allen Jenkins.

CASSIDY FILM ENDS TONIGHT

A fast-moving story of romance, rustling and revenge in the New Mexico cattle frontier is well told in the latest Hopalong Cassidy, "Cassidy of Bar 20," which closes tonight at the State theater.

Cattle-rustling and the efforts of cattlemen to meet this threat to their lives and security forms the background for the Clarence E. Mulford plot. Robert Fiske is the boss of the New Mexico country until he makes the attempt to increase his holdings at the expense of a girl rancher, Nora Lane, and old sweetheart of Hopalong's.

In his efforts to save Nora's cattle and to stamp out the rustlers at the same time, the Bar 20 foreman runs the gamut of high adventure. Before he can even reach Nora's ranch, Fiske has him arrested on a fake charge, after which he and his saddlebags, Russell Hayden, are put under the rustler's custody by a crooked Alamogordo judge.

"The Chaser," with Dennis O'Keefe and Lewis Stone, will be second attraction.

'Tropic Holiday' To Open Thursday

The gaiety of a native Mexican fiesta will fill the Broadway theater next Thursday when Paramount's musical of life below the Rio Grande, "Tropic Holiday," opens a local engagement.

"The Chaser," with Dennis O'Keefe and Lewis Stone, will be second attraction.

Texans to Picnic At Long Beach

Former Texans will gather in Bixby park, Long Beach, Aug. 6 for their annual picnic.

Registration will be by counties, in booths provided around the 254 trees representing each county in the Lone Star state. Basket lunches will be spread at noon.

New Recreation Magazine Issued

"Recreation News," a new weekly Orange county publication, made its first appearance here yesterday.

Published by Kenrock Press, the weekly magazine is being delivered free by mail. Roch Bradshaw and Kenneth Adams, publishers, are former Journal staff members.

'Hell Below' Will Close Tonight

'CRIME SCHOOL' AT WALKER'S

Sometimes amusing, sometimes tragic, and always exciting, "Crime School," the Warner Bros. picture opening at Walker's theater tomorrow, contains an indictment of unthinkable methods of dealing with juvenile crime.

Utilizing the talents of the six New York boys who became famous in both stage and screen versions of "Dead End," as well as such adult players as Humphrey Bogart and Gale Page, the latter a newcomer to the screen from radio, the new picture illustrates how the old type of boys' reformatory is really a "Crime School."

Merle Oberon, who in turn has masks on the screen, drops both for comedy in "The Divorce of Lady X," Alexander Korda's technicolor production on the same bill with "Crime School."

Merle Oberon as the mysterious Lady X, fascinates Laurence Olivier in "The Divorce of Lady X," which opens tomorrow at the Broadway theater along with "Blind Alibi," co-starring Richard Dix and Whitney Bourne.

CHILD FEATURE OF PRODUCTION

She's one child in two hundred and fifty!

That's what they say about six-year-old Charlene Wyatt, who won the role of "Lady," in "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie" after 250 others had been eliminated. As a result, Republic has featured her in "Michael O'Halloran," which comes to the State theater tomorrow for a three-day showing.

In the picture she takes the role of a crippled waif who brings happiness to an estranged family. Jackie Moran is her brother, the "Mickey" O'Halloran of the piece, and Wynne Gibson and Sidney Blackmer portray her foster parents.

The film has a number of child players, and has an authentic Mickey Mouse sequence that provides a poignant original twist to the plot. Wynne Gibson, Hope Manning and Warren Hull are among the players taking leading parts in the production.

On the same bill is "Fighting Caravans," which was brought back to Santa Ana on popular demand. Another chapter of the serial, "Mysterious Pilot" will appear at this time, also.

POLICE RADIO LOCATES AUTO

Less than two hours after a car parked on north Sycamore street was stolen, John Henry, 18-year-old Oklahoma transient, was in the county jail last night.

Police radio effected Henry's capture as Newport officers, hearing the broadcast, apprehended the youth as he drove through the city.

Henry was arraigned today on charges of driving without the owner's consent a coupe belonging to G. W. Bassett, jr., service station operator of 211 East Tenth street. The car, undamaged, was returned to Bassett this morning by the sheriff's office.

Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison set preliminary hearing on the charge for July 27 and fixed bond at $1000.

Kellogg Post to Take in Large Class of Recruits

Plans to muster in a large class of recruits at the Aug. 5 meeting were laid by Ernest L. Kellogg post No. 1680, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in the Knights of Pythias hall last night.

A degree team from South Gate post will officiate at the initiation, it was announced during last night's business meeting.

A new folder covering history of the organization of V. F. W. at Columbus, Ohio, in 1899 following the Spanish-American war was issued to post members for use in recruiting.

The V. F. W. auxiliary will conduct a public card party next Friday, the veterans were told.

Murphy Speaks at Democratic Rally

Daniel C. Murphy, member of the state board of education and candidate for governor, will speak at a general meeting of Orange county Democrats at 8 p. m. Tuesday in college hall.

Another featured speaker at the same meeting will be Joseph J. Rosborough, former postmaster of Oakland and Democratic candidate for state treasurer.

'Hell Below' Will Close Tonight

Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston, Madge Evans, Jimmy Durante, Eugene Pallette and Robert Young head a cast in "Hell Below," drama of submarine warfare which closes tonight at the Broadway theater along with the nature film, "Sequoia."

Starred in 'Algiers'

At West Coast Sunday

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

The writer is in receipt of a letter dated July 14 and a written resume of the entire recent Townsend national convention as written by John Maxwell, owner of The Maxwell Health Center, 404 South Wabash avenue, Chicago. Mr. Maxwell was a delegate to the convention and was a member of the resolutions committee and was selected to read before the convention the entire new Townsend manual of instructions to Townsend clubs which was subsequently upon a motion by him adopted by the convention. It required 41 minutes for the reading of the manual which will now soon be in the hands of the officers of Townsend clubs all over America.

During the convention there were many people who were interesting and desirable as acquaintances whom the writer had the pleasure of meeting and among these was Dr. John Maxwell, who has been so kind as to send a copy of his viewpoint of the convention. Dr. John Maxwell as he is known in Chicago is the president of the Chicago Sunday Afternoon Townsend club No. 9. He is also a world traveler having crossed the Atlantic in the neighborhood of 50 times during his long and interesting life. Dr. Maxwell's report is too long to quote in its entirety in this column, but tonight the first paragraph is being given below. It shows something of the fraternity of feeling which was characteristic of the convention.

"The Los Angeles Townsend convention has been a great, a wonderful, an inspiring gathering. In the main very harmonious, a massing of earnest delegates, clamoring for government recognition, determined to make their voices heard on the subject of National Recovery. It was a happy throng, a vast multitude which it was good to meet. You were shaking hands with brothers and sisters who were full of fervor and zeal, on fire with enthusiasm. We were being shown much of the power of group action focussed on one great recovery plan. Its effect will be far-reaching."

This column hopes it may be privileged to hear from Dr. Maxwell again. The writer was a delegate to the Chicago national Townsend convention and he thinks it would be interesting to his readers to have Dr. Maxwell write a brief resume of his observations connected with the advances made by the Townsend National Recovery movement in Chicago since the convention was held there. At that time the home city of Dr. Maxwell gave very little recognition to the group composing the first national convention of our movement. Naturally such a report would have to be brief to be quoted in this column.

The July 18 issue of the Townsend National Weekly carries a news report from Seattle, Wash., as follows:

"Giving unqualified endorsement to the Townsend plan as the only sane solution of the nation's economic problems, the King county Democratic convention by a strong majority vote passed a resolution demanding enactment of the plan, sending a copy to each member of congress representing the state of Washington."

The news reports credits Mrs. Jeanette Testi, chairman of the Democratic Central committee of King county as being responsible for the preparation of the resolution. Laura D. Chase, a delegate is quoted as having said: "This action is a long step forward for the Democrats of King county. Only two years ago a proposal to pass such a resolution was hoisted down. This time there was not a word of comment or objection. There were about 1000 delegates in attendance." This column quotes the above as an evidence that the Townsend National Recovery Plan marches on.

George D. Higgins of Los Angeles has been engaged by Santa Ana Club No. 2 to speak at its meeting in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street at 7:30 next Monday evening. Higgins is well and favorably known to the Orange county Townsends and will doubtless be greeted by a large crowd. Pope R. Long will preside over the meeting and present the speaker.

A letter from George Vose, National Townsend representative from Chicago now in the Ninth district states that a Townsend mass meeting has been arranged to be held at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening in the ball park in Colton. A week from tomorrow, Sunday, July 31, an all day meeting will be held in Elsinore on the beach. A big time is planned for this gathering with Mayor C. T. Johnson, Dr. Joseph Warneck and J. P. Dunster present as speakers. And Madame Mamie Stark with her accompanist, Mrs. Evangeline Burnham, are to be on hand to handle the music. Don't get these two meetings confused. The Elsinore meeting is a week from tomorrow.

The report comes that Mrs. Beulah Ferguson and her cast of players who appeared before a Townsend audience which filled the Costa Mesa Townsend hall to capacity last Wednesday evening, produced a real comedy. Costa Mesa Club No. 1 sponsored the affair and the writer has been told that the audience was splendidly entertained. Mrs. Ferguson is a seasoned stage performer herself and knows how to select capable talent and train it for such appearances, as she has fully demonstrated to Orange county audiences.

PORT STORY W. C. PICTURE

Scheduled for the West Coast theater starting tomorrow will be "Port of Seven Seas," starring Wallace Beery with a company of supporting players, including Frank Morgan, Maureen O'Sullivan, John Beal and Jessie Ralph.

Beery deviates from such outdoor characterizations as his "Bad Man of Brimstone" and "Viva Villa" to enact the part of the owner of a bar on the Marseilles waterfront.

The new picture is based on Marcel Pagnol's play, "Fanny," one of Europe's stage successes. The story deals with the lives of Cesar, rough but warm-hearted owner of the waterfront cafe, his son, Marius, who dreams of sailing to far-away places, Madelon who loves Marius enough to let him go away, and Panisse, wealthy sail-maker, who tries to compensate her for her loss.

Filming of the picture entailed one of the most ambitious set construction projects attempted in some time, the sets covering more than six acres and including a replica of the quay in Marseilles and other details of the French port.

The struggles of a paroled convict to rehabilitate himself form the basis of the plot of "Prison Break," which will be the companion feature. Barton MacLane is seen as the man who endeavors to "go straight" while the forces of society seem to conspire to prevent him from earning an honest living. Featured with MacLane and Glenda Farrell, Paul Hurst, Constance Moore, Ward Bond and Edward Pawley. A Popeye cartoon and world news completes the program.

Gun-Toter Gives Up Chamber Job, Moves His Business

PASADENA, (P) — William F. Bond, who caused a flurry of excitement last Saturday at San Clemente when he was found near President Roosevelt with a pistol on his person, has resigned as secretary of the Altadena chamber of commerce.

Bond, who said he had chatted with the President, was taken to Santa Ana, questioned by secret service men and the Orange county sheriff, and released.

He said today he was removing the ambulance service he operates to Pasadena and stated in his resignation he therefore was "unable to continue service either as secretary or as a director" of the Altadena chamber.

Horse drawn carriages are still to be seen on the streets of Shanghai. They are known as "broker's carts," a name derived from the fact that many stock brokers in the city still use the horse and buggy as a means of transportation in traveling from their homes to their offices.

Tomorrow evening in the ball park in Colton. A week from tomorrow, Sunday, July 31, an all day meeting will be held in Elsinore on the beach. A big time is planned for this gathering with Mayor C. T. Johnson, Dr. Joseph Warneck and J. P. Dunster present as speakers. And Madame Mamie Stark with her accompanist, Mrs. Evangeline Burnham, are to be on hand to handle the music. Don't get these two meetings confused. The Elsinore meeting is a week from tomorrow.

Country Club Party Draws Ten Tables

Despite the many enticements of summer which have led Santa Anans to beach and mountain resorts, affairs at home have their customary popularity. Yesterday's monthly bridge tea at the Country club was attended by nearly half a hundred matrons, who spent a most enjoyable afternoon.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Lewis F. Moulton, Mrs. Bessie Osterman, Mrs. George Carker, and Mrs. Milton Poppett, all of whom wore informal summer frocks. They were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Guy Gilbert.

At the tea hours screens were pushed aside to reveal a striking table with a gay miniature beach scene running down its entire length. Glistening sand, a mirror ocean, and numerous little figurines of bathing girls, sailors, and animals made the scene most realistic. Mrs. A. G. Flagg was asked to pour.

Prizes in keeping with the vacation-time were presented to Mrs. Howard Rapp and Mrs. Guy Gilbert for high scores among members, and a guest prize went to Mrs. A. M. Gardner.

Several of the members took advantage of the club's luncheon hour to enjoy the beautiful view of the sea. Mrs. Poppett had as guests Mrs. David Terhune, Mrs. Lew Blodgett, and Mrs. Lyle Anderson, and Mrs. Parker also presided over a table with several guests.

CHICAGO FOLK ENJOY VISIT HERE

Return yesterday from Chicago of F. B. Royce, 1620 Spurgeon street, in company with his son, W. F. Royce, and family has occasioned a number of informal family gatherings.

Mr. Royce had spent the past two months in Chicago, and when he decided to return to his California home, his son and family came with him on a vacation trip. Points in Iowa and South Dakota where the family had previously resided, as well as the national parks, were visited, the trip taking just a week.

Gathering for a family dinner at the Royce cabin in Silverado tomorrow will be F. B. Royce, Miss Lucy Royce, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Royce and Edith and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Button with Donald and Margery, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Smith and Frances Jean, and Mr. and Mrs. John Gowdy.

The W. F. Royces find it necessary to leave for Chicago Monday, so their stay in the Southland will be brief.

MRS. NEWMAN IS CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. James Newman was hostess to the Southwest Progressive club in her home at 1236 South Van Ness street this week. She was assisted in serving a refreshment course in the garden by her son's wife, Mrs. James D. Newman.

Present for the pleasant affair were the Mesdames J. W. Branson, Harvey Bear, Walter Tomlinson, Guy Stickle, Max Struck, J. M. Carlson, A. J. Beckman, Stella Cheney, W. R. Crowthers, L. A. Pease, Ella Tweedy, George Pringle, Carl Raymond, J. C. Wylie, James D. Newman.

Bride Of A Fortnight

It was just two weeks ago tomorrow that Miss June Arnold became the bride of Mr. W. Lockwood Miller of Los Angeles. The daughter of the late Ralph P. Arnolds of Santa Ana, she is shown on the left in her exquisite wedding gown. Rites were performed in the local First Methodist church.

SUMMER BRIDE

Mrs. Monroe Rice, shown above, is an attractive newcomer to Santa Ana. Until her wedding at Chino early in the month she was Miss Lois Andrews.

Merkers Are Hosts At Celebration

The 82nd birthday anniversary of H. P. Lykke, prominent Santa Ana resident of many years, was celebrated in festive fashion last evening when his daughter, Mrs. Fred Merker, planned a family dinner party in his honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Merker with their sons, Donald and Dick, are spending the month of July at Balboa Island. They invited the group down for the day, and ultimately around the dinner table every member of the celebrant's family save his daughter Nora (Mrs. R. J. Deninger) who is absent in Canada, was present.

Sharing in the joys of a birthday cake and gifts set before Mr. Lykke were his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lykke, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lykke, Mrs. Christine Faccou, Harland Faccou, Mr. and Mrs. Armand Faccou, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Edgar, Bob and Shirley Edgar, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lykke, Diana Lykke, with Mr. and Mrs. Merker and Donald and Dick.

A number of Santa Anans, all members of the Ranney family, will attend a reunion dinner party of their relatives at the Frank Ranney home in Corona tomorrow.

Going from here will be Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ranney with Nancy and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ranney and Walter Ranney, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ranney with Clifford, Jr., and Joan, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ranney with Sylvia and Gilbert, and Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Ranney and Faith and Joyce.

Others in the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Kent, who are week-ending with the latter's parents, the W. D. Ranneys of Santa Ana, and their baby, Donald Kent, Miss Alice Ranney of Banning, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ranney, Mr. Herbert Ranney, Miss Louise Ranney, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Genung and Dale of Corona, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ranney with Austin and Harriet.

November Rites Are Forecast

Of paramount interest at a charming dinner party given this week by Miss Genevieve Eustis in the home of her parents, the E. F. Eustises of Tustin, was announcement of the fact that she will wed Horace Ritter of this city on November 13th.

The news was not a complete surprise, inasmuch as the romance of the popular couple was already known by their intimates, but revelation of the date set for their church wedding created much excited comment.

For the affair Miss Eustis and her mother had decorated the tables with dainty arrangements of blue bachelor buttons and yellow daisies, using tallies of similar inspiration. The bride-elect wore a corsage of rosebuds while her mother wore gardenias that were the gift of Mr. Ritter.

At court whist, which was the evening's diversion, Mrs. Richard Robbins and Miss Mary Nalle were the fortunate high-scorers.

Guests at the enjoyable affair were Miss Nell Lawrence, Miss Marion Carson, Miss Virginia Carson, Miss Audrey Pieper, Miss Helen Betty Ritter, Miss Elizabeth Sturtevant, Miss Frances Wilbur, Miss Suzanne Clark, Miss Mary Nalle, Miss Lucille Griset, Miss Velda Richards, Miss Jeanne Cruzen, Mrs. Howard Gould, Mrs. Richard Robbins, Mrs. Lynn Scott, Mrs. Elmer Ritter, Mrs. Stewart Godden, Mrs. Lawrence Cruzen, Mrs. Verne Cruzen and Mrs. Glenn Eustis.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL IS COMPLIMENTED

When Mrs. C. E. Rossier entertained a group of relatives and close friends at a delightful buffet luncheon this week to compliment her daughter, Mrs. Milton Steller (Marcelle Rossier), who is visiting here from Oakland, they conspired to surprise the former local girl with a number of dainty layette gifts.

Baby rosebuds and forget-me-nots were significant of the day's theme as table decorations, and the afternoon was spent playing stork games and reminiscing.

Guests of Mrs. Rossier were Mrs. F. D. Rossier, Mrs. G. C. Griffin, Mrs. W. S. Clary, Mrs. Arthur Cole, Mrs. Atwood Bradley, Miss Gwen Griffin, and Miss Virginia Rossier, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Cleve Moran, Mrs. Ted Smith, Mrs. Evelyn Brady, Mrs. William Horton, Mrs. Wendell Thompson, Mrs. Lester Cook, Mrs. Paul Robinson, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Angelo Seasmundo, and Mrs. Dolores Brown, of Los Angeles; Mrs. H. A. Rossier of Lakewood Village, Mrs. J. M. Greer of Artesia, Mrs. Adrian Marsh of Balboa Island, and the honoree.

JERRY MILLER HOME SCENE OF PARTY

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller will be opened tonight for the pleasure of their house guests, Miss Dora Doyle of Los Angeles, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Miller, for the summer. Miss Doyle will return the many courtesies shown her here by serving a garden dinner at the Miller home, 2385 Riverside Drive.

Bright-colored pottery and flowers will decorate the tables where guests will be served steaks grilled by Mr. Miller, and later pingpong and badminton are scheduled. Miss Doyle's guests will be Mrs. Hazel Northcross, Miss Alma Karlsson, Miss Damaris Beeman, Miss Lena Thomas, Miss Genevieve Humiston, Miss Dorothy Decker, Miss Martha Whitson, Miss Frances Emans, with Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

ELLEN NEAL IS HOSTESS AT BEACH PARTY

The attractive new beach house of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Neal at Laguna was setting for an enjoyable little affair Thursday when their daughter, Ellen, entertained a group of her sub-deb friends.

Comprising the happy party, for which an informal Mexican luncheon had been arranged, were Miss Dorothy Flaherty, Miss Helena McBurney, Miss Ruth de Guenther, Miss Elizabeth Winbiger, Miss Dorothy Davis, Miss Lorraine Tarbox, Miss Jean Tarbox, Miss Cecilia Telef and Miss Paula Purvis.

OPEN HOUSE ON GOLDEN DATE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gilbert, for many years residents of Tustin, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary tomorrow with an open-house at their home, 337 Sixth street, Tustin.

Friends are asked to call between the hours of two and four o'clock. Aiding them will be their five children, Mrs. Ben Aldrich of Santa Ana, Frank Gilbert of Tustin, E. D. Gilbert of Oakland, Raymond Gilbert of Santa Ana, and Charles B. Gilbert of Sacramento.

CHAT A WHILE with BETTY

Wanted: an election! So goes the cry of the Twenty-Three boys and one Herbert Hill, their white hope for district governor of the organization. With a long and admirable record of organization politics behind him, Herb's been nominated for that quite important office, and so far is the only one in the field—but no one can see Sunday a good conclusive time for him actually to be elected. They figure it has to be in the next couple of weeks, because returns have to go in before the national convocation at El Paso in August—but what to do about it? Some problem.

Hard luck story of the week: The lovely Mrs. Mortimer Plum, whom I no longer call "liting" because everyone now thinks it, unconsciously slipped and fell at the supper party she was giving last Sunday at the Irvine estate house for the Dinmores' houseguests from Piedmont, and suffered so painful an injury to her leg, a bad sprain, that all thirsty or forty of the guests had to take their departure just as the party was getting well under way!

A close runner-up in the sob stories though is what happened to Elma Bradley, except that she had some recompense. With a fine baby boy to her credit out at St. Joseph's, she was resting peacefully. Twelve hours later her name was called at one of those Treasure Chest things, and she missed getting $200! George figures thereby that his heir cost him just about double!

And oh dear! Another lament! The popular Mesdames Flagg, Swales, Dunning, and Huber were jockey-clubbing it at Inglewood Thursday and doing a little cautious wagering. Margaret Huber caught a glimpse of the name "Dandy Vale"—and simply begged her mother, Nora Flagg, to bet it. It seems that little Linda Huber calls her grandmother, "Dandy." Finally Mrs. Flagg good-naturedly weakened to the extent of a show ticket, not a bit impressed by the long-shot, but just why Margaret herself didn't follow the same hunch no one knows. Anyway—that was the upset race of the day—and Dandy Vale paid $96 and something to place! Of course the show return was better than nothing, however.

Happy birthday tomorrow to little Emma Anderson. She and her husband are being taken to the Beverly-Wilshire for dining and dancing and general celebrating by Ruth Berry and Dr. Alfred Court.

Speaking of birthdays: Betty Ragan was a dismal soul last Saturday. Her nice husband, Paul, had planned a gala day to celebrate her birthday, and then was called out of town on imperative business. Betty did what she could in the city during the day to feel festive, but was quite disconsolate when she returned home to a lonely house that night.

And behold! In her mailbox were at least two dozen cute birthday cards and messages to cheer her up! All were anonymous, definitely not from Paul—and Mrs. Ragan can't find out who's responsible. Says she'll try to find out, but she's not in the paper that go. In grateful appreciation...

Here and there: Miss Ruth Wade of Montreal is here visiting at the homes of her brothers, Dr. Mrs. Tarbox is HOSTESS IN THOMSON HOME

With the delightful ranch home of her sister, Mrs. W. H. Thomson, at her disposal, Mrs. L. E. Tarbox yesterday afternoon gave a charming little luncheon party to compliment members of her executive board, her ways and means, budget, and program committees of the Santa Ana Women's club, of which she is newly-installed president.

Guests were seated at a long table prettily decorated with blue delphinium and white pompon dahlias, and Mrs. Tarbox was assisted in serving by Mrs. Thomson and by her daughter, Miss Lorraine Tarbox.

Guests included Mrs. C. W. Clarke, Mrs. Ralph P. Arnold, Mrs. E. A. Elwell, Mrs. R. A. McMahon, Mrs. L. G. Holman, Miss Blanche Seeley, Miss Linda Kroker, Mrs. Ronald Shearman, Mrs. F. Jacoby, Mrs. George Paes, Mrs. Earl Lepper, and Mrs. F. A. Martin.

MISSOURI GUEST ENJOYS VISIT

Numerous places which California boasts have been visited since Mrs. Albert Calef from Kirksville, Mo., arrived in Santa Ana Sunday to visit her sister, Mrs. Leonard Musick, for the first time.

As Mrs. Calef returns home Thursday, the next few days are packed with plans for continued activities. Sunday morning Mrs. Musick, with her two sons, Jim and Herschel and her guests will breakfast at Irvine park.

Traveling to Los Angeles will occupy Monday with a tour of the coliseum, libraries and other noted places. Tuesday evening a party is planned in the form of a steak bake at Santiago park for five families.

During Mrs. Calef's visit she has seen the ocean for the first time. She will leave by train for her home.

Arthur and Dr. Robert. . . The Phil McVickers didn't move to San Francisco last week-end after all, as he is going this week. . . the David Howells are cottaging at Catalina for a bit. . . Thelma and Alvin Stauffer are planning a week in San Francisco in September. . . Bettie Timmons is home from that same city after a glamorous week spent with Burly Roberts' Barleone, welcoming the navy to the north. . . Mrs. F. A. Burkett and her three daughters are vacationing at Barton Flats. . . Wayne and Alice Harrison, with Jimmie and Carolyn, are counting on lots of fun at that adorable new Corona del Mar house of Wayne's parents, and will spend a good many summer days there.

Caught a glimpse of Jean Peacock, who's been Mrs. Howard Hales for a good many years. She's down from the north visiting her grandmother, and I understand her spouse was to have, will have, or has now joined her for a brief vacation in the home-town.

Sweet Mrs. George Munro and her Stanfordite brood, Margaret, Jean, and George, have moved into a most attractive new home at 1812 North Flower street.

Question for the week: Who was the young matron scheduled to appear at a recent function, who never did show up, and for whom that makes a total tally of three similar instances?

Mrs. Sara Haddon and her New York houseguest are busily planning so extensive a series of informal this-and-thats for their month at the beach in the Irvine Cove cottage that one doesn't see where their vacation will come in! Their cutest idea to date is a grunion hunt on the thirteenth, that being the full moon time.

Mrs. Bess (Sam) Hill and her daughter Doris were blissfully lurching on the Lurline today, which is the next best thing to sailing on it, one would think. They were guests of Miss Lani Cathcart, who's returning to her home in Honolulu after holidaying in California, and who will bear alohas to Sam Hill, Jr., who is working in the islands.

With summer here to every intent and purpose, you can imagine the astonishment of the Carl Klatts, when, visiting Jeanette at Teresita camp, they encountered a hail storm so fierce that they had to stop the car and wait for it to abate! . . . Tomorrow is the day that Eugene Hays and his petite wife, who, oddly enough, is very reminiscent of Helen Hayes, leave for the east to make their home. Although they've been living up in Alhambra for some time, they still seem very much like home folks, and will be greatly missed. . . Lois LeBar and her little girls are happily absorbing Catalina sunshine these days. . . The Clifton Steeles, summering at Balboa Island, have one of the nicest customs I've heard of—a definite Tuesday night open house for all the young people each week. . . There was a Mrs. G. E. Walker named as winner of a hundred dollar prize in "Liberty" last week, and you can imagine Henriette Walker's astonishment at getting fan mail from the middle-west! She happens to be Mrs. George H. Walker, but evidently that's the closest to the winner's name that there is in the directory. Someone evidently used a nom de plume, but I'm just worrying as to how that someone is going to collect the prize, not being able to produce herself or himself an hypothetical "Mrs. G. E. Walker" of which there aren't any!

Noticed the Carl Mocks doing a little steak-baking the other night. . . Lawrence Bemis and his son, Bucky, are expected back from an eastern trek this week-end. . . Bessie Randall Coulter is planning a flight east at the end of August, going by plane because she has only two weeks. . . The Rowland family is alternating at its Forest Home cabin with Ninette Rowland Wilson, her little Bobbie Jo, her mother, Mrs. F. C., and the latter's mother, Mrs. C. F. Crose, enconced there the past week. . . The William Stauffers and the Ralph Snedleys planned to spend this week-end at a Rotary convocation at Ocean-side. . . Bob and Edna Miller are back from a quick trip to Chicago, which they declare wasn't half quick enough. Simply terrific hot damp weather, they report. . . Bennie Osterman and his beautiful wife have been having lots of summer fun with their barbecue pit. . . An accolade to Betty West Pinkston, the only bride I ever heard of who was so completely settled after just a few weeks of matrimony that she could whip in and give a really truly party.

See you next Saturday! BETTY GUILD.

MRS. LEPPER IS HOSTESS AT EVENING PARTY

Anticipated as one of the month's enjoyable evenings, the Neighborhood club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Earl Lepper, 928 Louise street, who acted as co-hostess with Mrs. Howard McHenry.

As the group meets only every other month, the affair is usually planned to compliment guests. Golden shades of yellow and orange marigolds were used in flower arrangements at the hostess' long table. Candles and napkins carried out the same trend at the dessert course.

Games played during the evening included whoopee and five hundred. First prize for whoopee was won by Mrs. Norman Cowdry. Mrs. Albert Calef, a guest, received the traveling prize. Mrs. William Lindsay was awarded the five hundred prize.

Guests invited to the evening gathering were Mrs. Herschel Musick, Mrs. Ralph Mitchell, Mrs. William Dennis, Mrs. Walter Edkins and Mrs. Albert Calef, sister of Mrs. Leonard Musick, who is visiting here from Missouri.

Members of the neighborhood group present included Mrs. Leonard Musick, Mrs. William Lindsay, Mrs. John McFarlane, Mrs. Norman Cowdry, Mrs. Lynn Haffer, Mrs. Lawrence Brown and co-hostesses, Mrs. McHenry and Mrs. Lepper.

Acting as hostesses next time the club meets will be Mrs. Norman Cowdry and Mrs. John McFarlane. The date for the affair will be set later.

RELIEF CORPS MEET

Women's Relief Corps Federation No. 1 will meet at the Huntington Beach Memorial hall, Sixth street, Monday at 10 a. m.

CHIROPRACTIC PICNIC SET

Chiropractic auxiliary No. 1 will hold a picnic at the Fred Schwendemanns in Trabuco Oaks Sunday, July 31, at 1 p. m. Members are requested to bring their own food and table service. The grill will be available to those who desire to fry steaks. Coffee will be furnished.

V. F. W. WOMEN HAVE FULL CALENDAR

A busy week is in store for members of the auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was revealed at a meeting of that group last night.

Tomorrow is the second district breakfast at Beaumont. July 28 the auxiliary will have its all-day sewing session at the home of Juanita Cozad, 1415 South Garnsey street, with a potluck luncheon at noon.

On the 29th the auxiliary will hold a public card party at the Knights of Pythias hall at 8 p. m., and on the 30th members will attend a reception for the department president, held at the Hermona Biltmore hotel at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Ruth O'Mallia, commander, appointed the Mesdames Neva McCoy, Phoebe Hyatt, Evelyn Atwood, Irene Stewart and herself to the August refreshment committee. The Mesdames Anna Planchette, Effie Hawley, Anna McCleary, Jane Kelsey and Violet Irvine served refreshments last night to the auxiliary and post.

Yacht Club Awards Go To Santa Anans

Santa Anans came home with flying colors from the Newport Harbor Yacht club's afternoon bridge party for members and guests, for all three prizes went to local matrons. Mrs. Dixon W. Tubbs and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales were high scorers among Yacht club members, and Mrs. Harvey Spears was winner of the guest prize.

The affair was made up of approximately twenty tables, and acting as hostess was the lovely Mrs. George Converse, the former movie star, Anita Stewart. Mrs. Lyman Farwell of Santa Ana was a guest at Mrs. Converse's table.

Mrs. Swales had as her guests for the day Mrs. Robert C. Tut-hill, Mrs. A. W. Rutan, and Mrs. J. E. Liebig, while Mrs. Tubbs entertained Mrs. Harvey Spears, Mrs. John McKittrick, and Mrs. John Backus.

The club has inaugurated a series of Sunday night suppers this month, which have been remarkably successful to date. Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs plan to attend this Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons as their guests.

Evelyn Witt Is Hostess At Beach

"Beaching it" became the theme of the informal party hosted by Miss Evelyn Witt yesterday afternoon and evening when a dozen guests enjoyed the Newport beach house where the H. F. Witt family have been spending a week of their vacation.

Leaving Santa Ana in the afternoon, coeds and recent brides gathered on the sands before swimming in the ocean and the bay.

Supper was in the form of a weiner bake on the beach with warmth and cheeriness of a crackling fire playing counter to the cool ocean breezes. Reminiscences of college activities were enjoyed by guests with others playing contract.

Those invited to the summer party included Miss Gertrude Yount, Miss Betty Bradley, Miss Justine Krock, Mrs. Fred Pinkston (Betty West), Mrs. Lawrence Trickey (Ethel Chaffee), Mrs. Jerome Gaston, Miss Josephine Flaherty, Miss Florence Nelson, Miss Virginia Curry, Miss Harriet Fowler, Miss Muriel Anderson, Miss Carol Erskine, and the hostess, Miss Witt.

Invitations were issued today for the wedding Saturday, August thirteenth, at eight o'clock in the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, of Miss Eleanor Metzgar and Reuel Walker Klein. The betrothal of the lovely bride-elect, shown above, was announced last week at a formal tea given by her mother, Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar.

SIX INITIATED IN WHITE SHRINE RITES

The first ceremonial to be conducted under the new regime of Damascus White Shrine, with Florence Wright as worthy high priestess and Dr. James Workman as watchman of the shepherds, was an elaborate initiation held last night at Masonic temple, with more than 200 local members and visitors from all over the Southland in attendance.

Admitted to membership in the Shrine were Alice B. Tolhurst, Jean Bohlander, Muriel Johnson, Ernest Johnson, Fern Rime White and Verdie Smith Rime. Following their induction, escort honors were accorded to Walter J. Campbell of Long Beach, junior past supreme watchman of the shepherds; Jennie Jones of Whittier, deputy supreme watchman of the shepherds, and officials of Pomona, Long Beach and Riverside Shrines, as well as 15 past officials of the local Shrine.

Late in the evening the crowd was admitted to the banquet hall where tables in cross form were beautifully decorated with rose and white pompon dahlias, Japanese fireflies and lovely daisies. In charge of arrangements were Eva Mae McConnell, Katherine Reade, Emma Jemison, Gladys Goodrich, Paula T. Brightwell, Florence Crawford, Catherine Good, Marie Peterman and Carolyn Good, while assisting in pouring were Walter Wright, Harry Roberts, Will McConnell and Neil Beisel.

Honored guests of the evening were Jessie Pawson, M. H. Pawson, Cassene Myrie, Etta Perkins, Lillian McConnell, Dorothy Tefft, Jessie Leonard and Freda Lomboller of the new Riverside Shrine; Lillian Tans, Kate Costilini, Dorothy French, Elva Magill and Joseph H. French of Pomona; Muriel Eaton, Anna Mae Erwin, Oscar Overgaard, Derwood Triven and Walter and Nellie Combellick of Long Beach; Alice Bodle and Jennie Jones of Whittier, and Lulu Powell of Gahler, Mich.

Present as members were the Mesdames Evelyn Durfee, Helen Hamilton, Esther Reintour, Amber Lee, Betty Campbell, Mildred Paul, Joy McNeill, and Rosemary Sheahan.

THE MISSES MCFADDEN ENTERTAIN

A most delightful at-home to lend difference and charm to the summer season was that at which Miss Ada McFadden and Miss Mabel McFadden entertained in their spacious family home at 906 North Main street.

The social atmosphere of the affair was greatly stimulated by a most impressive talk on the new field of psychology in telepathy and clairvoyance presented by James McFarland, their cousin, who, with his bride, the former Mary Lee Walker, leaves soon to take advanced university work in that subject in the east.

The two gracious hostesses were assisted by Miss Janet McFadden in serving a refreshment course from a tea table attractively centered with hydrangea blossoms. Vivid-hued zinnias were elsewhere about the rooms.

Guests of the Misses McFadden were Mr. and Mrs. McFarland, Mrs. Lynn Crawford, Miss Florence Bagley, Miss Hazel Bemus, Miss Ruth Bradley, Mrs. Frances Concklin, Mrs. Edith Cook, Miss Mildred Frazier, Miss Ruth Frothingham.

DOTS AND DASHES, ONE OR TWO FLASHES ON COUNTY SPORTS FRONT

Phil Hay's first move as president of the "Downtown Quarterbacks," Don football booster club, will be to seek a special car at reduced fare for the members who desire to follow Santa Ana Jaycees' squad by train for the game at San Mateo Junior college. Now 18. More about this later.

Grass is greener in other pastures for some nightball players. This certainly has been true with Rod Ballard, the Long Beach athlete. Cut adrift by Santa Ana's Stars because of his hitting—or lack of hit—Ballard joined the Orange Cubs last year, and had a fair season. He's going great guns this year, and driving in a lot of runs on solid hits.

Crooner Bing Crosby, president of the Del Mar track which opens July 29, will be host to Southern scribes, including yours truly, at a big dinner in the clubhouse Wednesday night.

Salt water fishing continues good in Southern California, especially off Newport-Balboa for albacore, and in Catalina Island waters for tuna, we learn from the outing bureau of the Southern California Automobile club.

If you're going fishing over the week-end, you should be interested in the following report:

Catalina—Best fishing in several years. Seven marlin have been brought to gaff, one a 353-pounder and yellowtail, tuna and barracuda have been running regularly. Some albacore also have been caught.

Newport-Balboa—Trolling boats been making good catches of albacore. Live bait boats report good landings of albacore, tuna and barracuda.

San Clemente—Scotty Lacade says "Fishermen are bringing in yellowtail, tuna, white sea bass, barracuda and bass."

San Diego—Fishing seems returning to normal at Coronado Islands. Last Tuesday 21 passengers on "Masco III" landed 92 yellowtail, 8 tuna and 21 white sea bass. Other boats reported comparable luck.

Fishing has picked up again at Big Bear and several limits have been reported recently.

By PAUL WRIGHT

Their determination to gain the Shaughnessy playoffs for the four top teams in September had carried Santa Ana's Stars a step nearer their goal today, as the result of last night's 1-0 shutout victory at Orange.

The game marked the opening of the fourth and final round of the National Nightball league, and was filled with lost opportunities—for Orange. Manager Hod Chambers' hustling Cubs connected with 12 hits, but displayed little—if any—punch in the pinches, when Stan Jacobsmeyer steadied after two were away.

CUBS OUTHIT LOCALS

Jack Dugan, righthander, yielded only nine hits, but the winning run was scored off him in the first of the eighth, as follows:

Richardson, first up, drove a single into center field. Arnold Struck juggled, permitting Richardson to pull up at second. Lanky Fred Wiener laid down a perfect bunt, and headed for first. Third baseman Walt Gunther, scooping up the ball, tossed wildly to Roy Rahne at first, the ball hitting Wiener and bouncing to the sidelines as Richardson circled the bags with what proved to be the winning run. "Doc" Smith bunted, sending Wiener to third. However, the Stars then went out 1-2-3. Bomo Kott popped up to first. Bob Mott fanned and Jacobsmeyer grounded to third. It was Mott's only strikeout of the evening, the southpaw first baseman pouncing out two singles in his first trips to the plate.

Dugan and Jacobsmeyer had a hammer - and - tongs battle for pitching honors. Neither issued a walk. Both fanned eight.

Orange started out like a house afire, leading the bases on singles by Nelson Struck, Ted Walker and Rod Ballard, but "Doc" Smith caught Struck at the plate for third out. . . In the second, Orange planted Walt Leitchfuss on third and Gunther on second with only one away, but Dugan grounded out and Arnold Struck fanned.

Manager Lastmeyer's Cub planted Manuel Salcido on third and Gunther on second with two singles and a passed ball in the sixth, but Dugan fanned for the third out. . . Ballard led off the eighth with a scorching double over shortstop and stole third, but Leitchfuss, Salcido and Gunther went out 1-2-3 to relieve Jacobsmeyer.

RALLY IN EIGHTH

The Stars had men as far as second in four innings before the elegant eighth, in which they would have scored more than one run with any kind of luck. They had the winning run already across, and a man on third and first with none away—but the next three went down in order.

Victory for Santa Ana was all the more surprising in the absence of two infield regulars—Third baseman Tommy Young and Second baseman Joe Koral.

Christy, Morelli Await Mat Clash

The wrestling match that Orange county fans have been waiting for has been booked by Promoter "Bud" Levin for the top half of a double main event next Thursday night at Orange County Athletic club. Levin announced today that he has signed Ted Christy, the "Sunland Terror" to meet Tony (Killer) Morelli in a two out of three falls finish match.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, BREA, ANAHEIM NINES ADVANCE

With the National Nightball league pennant scramble for the Shaughnessy playoffs off positions gradually becoming a red hot race with the fourth quarter off to a fast start, three clubs which may figure prominently in the final standings faltered last night.

San Bernardino, which was once in second place, dropped down to No. 3 post-only a game in front of Santa Ana's Stars when Huntington Beach Oilers started the ball rolling in the ninth frame to hang up a 7 to 3 victory at Colton last night.

The last inning raid was good for four runs and four hits added to runs scored in the third, fifth and seventh innings off Bob (Lefty) Fowler. San Bernardino raked Ellwyn (Fuzzy) Errington for runs in the seventh and ninth frames after getting to Venn Botts, their former manager, for one run and collecting seven hits in six innings.

Irvine's Beapinkers, who threatened to catch up with Santa Ana and nab fourth place, wilted before Anaheim's Valencias, 5 to 1, at Anaheim.

Irvin DeBusk started on the mound for Irvine, but was replaced in the fourth by Ray Hodgson, who held Anaheim scoreless the rest of the way. Anaheim collected three on the first on successive singles by Bob Hosack, Emmett Seacord and Randolph Bell which filled the bases.

ELKS LAUNCH NEW LEAGUE

Santa Ana's Elks, managed by Darwin (Scottie) Scott, will be one of seven teams opening play tonight in a district softball tournament to gain the right to play at Monterey for the championship this summer.

Santa Ana, Compton, Burbank, Glendale, Redondo, Ventura and Inglewood will compete in one elimination, with El Centro, San Diego and Oceanside in another, and 10 northern teams in a third tournament. If Santa Ana, which draws a bye tonight, wins its district championship, the Elks will play for the right to meet the northern team for the state B. P. O. E. Crown.

National softball rules will be in effect—12-in. ball, 10-men teams, 50-ft. baselines.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Wally Berger, Reds, and Chuck Klein, Phillies—Berger's homer and single sent two runs across in 5-2 opener win; Klein collected three hits and drove in as many runs in 11-10 nightcap decision.

Ducky Medwick, Cardinals—Hit triple, double and single and drove in five runs in 12-3 win over Dodgers.

Charley Comstock filed out, scoring Hosack and Seacord. Ben Wallin brought Bell across with a hit. Fritz Gunter's deep centerfield fly scored Bell and Comstock in the third. Horace Sears' triple sent Dwight Ahern across the plate in the third for Irvine's lone tally.

On the wings of a 14-hit assault, Brea's Red Lions nosed out Whittier's All Stars in a slugfest at Brea, 9 to 6.

Virgil Kiger's Lions won in the eighth when they scored three runs. Red Bath and Brazil Lounange singled. Willard Bath's fly to left scored "Red." Thompson was safe on an error and Harker's single drove in Lounange and Thompson. Behind, 6-5 in the seventh, Brea scored once to tie the count. Johnson doubled and W. Bath's single brought him in.

Nan Coats clouted a homer in the first with one aboard for Whittier.

GRIMM LANDS RADIO JOB

CHICAGO, (AP)—Charlie Grimm, deposited as manager of the Chicago Cubs four days ago, already has landed a job—and it's permanent.

Starting tomorrow, Grimm's booming baritone voice will be heard in the role of radio baseball commentator. He has agreed to sign with station WBBM, of the Columbia Broadcasting system, as a regular member of its sports staff. His first assignment will be to describe the game tomorrow between his former players and the New York Giants.

FULLERTON BOY FOREIGN STAR

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, (AP)—A team of eight American track and field athletes won 14 events in a three-day international meet here, but to Ray Malott of Stanford university and the San Francisco Olympic club go most of the honors.

Malott, former Fullerton, Calif., athlete whose specialty is the quarter-mile, turned in two individual victories and broke two Sweden records, then rounded out his performance by running on two victorious relay teams.

Wednesday he was clocked in 47.8 seconds, good time in any race, for the 400 meters, and yesterday he ran 300 meters in 33.4 to set another Swedish mark and come within a fifth of a second of the world record, made in 1921 by Charley Paddock.

TONY RUSHED TO HOSPITAL 'VERY SICK'

ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—The man variously described as Two-Ton Tony, The Walking Bear Barrel, Gargantuan Galento, etc., today was just plain Anthony Galento, a pneumonia patient at Orange Memorial hospital, and there was a sudden change in his and his public's diets.

Tony, for the first time in many years, went without his famous beer and cigars. He had instead an oxygen tent and a fluttering squad of nurses and doctors.

"His public," for the first time in many months, went without its Galento caprices, its laughs. He had instead reports that Tony had a fever of 104 and was seriously ill.

Just a few hours before he was taken to the hospital last night Tony announced discovery of a new blood-curdling cry to "scare" John Henry Lewis at their scheduled boxing bout in Philadelphia next Tuesday.

But there was no "scare" in his voice when he protested being covered with an oxygen tent—"take it off," he urged. "Take it away. I'm not that sick."

The pudgy, colorful heavyweight named number one contender for Champion Joe Louis's crown, didn't know he had pneumonia, his manager, Joe Jacobs said. "He thinks he's just got the gripe."

Promoter Herman Taylor postponed indefinitely the match with Lewis, light heavyweight champ, when notified of Galento's illness and 104.4 fever at 11 o'clock last night.

Galento, who had trained on beer and cigars for every fight but this one, visioned the 15-round bout with Lewis as a stepping stone to a bout with Heavyweight Champion Louis in the fall, his "big chance."

Jacobs said Tony, an Orange tavern keeper, first showed signs of illness Thursday night when he complained of a chill as he sat in his tavern.

His physician, Dr. Joseph G. Higi, was called and ordered him to bed, but his high fever continued to mount. Dr. Higi described the illness as influenza-pneumonia.

MUSIC IN A BANK...
The Union Savings bank and Trust company of Davenport, Ia., faced a crisis on Sept. 30, 1931. Someone started a run on the bank.

The situation grew more tense hourly; hundreds of people jammed the lobby of the bank in an effort to withdraw their savings. Mob hysteria, that dangerous, driving force that does not listen to reason, threatened to result in tragedy.

The officers and directors of the bank were at a loss to control the mob and subdue the run. The de-positors were not in a reasoning frame of mind. Next morning the run continued; the mob still clamored at the bank's windows. Then Fred Zabel, vice-president of the institution, threatened to result in tragedy.

Most like magic the rhythmic strains took effect. The crowd relaxed. Customers tapped their feet on the marble floors-- changed their minds and left the bank. Many actually re-deposited their money which they had just taken out.

The Orange Situation

It is obvious that both sides to the orange industry—the selling and the producing—must have a mutual concern in order that both may profitably operate. There can be no excess to the advantage of one without injury to the other. The mutuality of the issue is vital. In seasons like the present when the price is admittedly unsatisfactory, there is likely to develop an antagonism of one against the other which may lead to destructive results for both sides.

The packing and selling organizations are the creations of the grower. It was not the intention of the growers to organize themselves out of the control of their own business, when the cooperative and mutual plans were adopted. For many years the system proved its wisdom. It should not now be condemned because a lean year has appeared, because it has not been proven that the method has failed. In fact the reverse has been the case. Growers can point to satisfactory profits over a long period of years.

The present condition is imposing upon the selling organizations a difficult problem. They can defend themselves on the theory and fact that if too much is produced a lower price is inevitable. If the production is more than the trade can absorb managements can point the finger of over-production at the grower, or ship less of the fruit grown, in order to improve the price.

The issues are demanding the best thought of the industry, both from the production and the selling ends. The Journal hopes to be able to present opinions from both sides, from which perhaps suggestions may be introduced which will be helpful in the result both grower and seller are interested in—better prices.

A North Carolinian was fined $17 for passing a worthless check and immediately paid his fine with another bad check. Genuine case of "check and double check."

Happy Landing, Mr. Greve

The daring young man on the flying trapeze was only slightly more daring, in our judgment, than the American financier, William M. Greve, who has just renounced his United States citizenship to become a subject of the tiny, tax-free principality of Liechtenstein.

Liechtenstein, although tax-free, has an area of 65 square miles and a population of just a few more than 10,000, and is next door to "greater" Germany.

Discounting entirely the loss of pride involved in transferring allegiance from the greatest country in the world to the most insignificant, it seems to us that ex-American Greve has made a poor bargain in the one respect that was his primary consideration.

Obviously his basic notion was to find a spot in which he could hoard his wealth forever or thereabouts, and never have to declare a dividend for the tax collector.

But can he have overlooked the fact that Liechtenstein is a fairly rich little morsel, as geographical morsels run these days, and that the new German reich is prepared to annex (swallow, in our language) any territory that cannot defend itself and that is worth having?

If ex-American Greve should wake up some fine day and find himself a subject of the Hitler-Goering-Goebbels combination, where tax limits are unknown and considered foolish, well, we should think that would serve Mr. Greve just about right.

Russia gives public notice that she feels to be in a state of war emergency, which ought to draw some polite excuse from the Japanese.

Smile, Chicago

Between July 24 and 30 the citizens of Chicago are going to be engaged in a "Courtesy week." Nearly 400 organizations which touch almost every segment of the population have pledged cooperation in an effort to make the elbow-rubbing of Chicago's 3,000,000 inhabitants frictionless and actually pleasant.

Chicago will smile until it hurts. Also, everyone is supposed to say "please" and "thank you" at every possible opportunity.

Gone are the days when the Al Capone gang and their competitors made days and nights ring with the echo of their machine guns. Forgotten, at least during Courtesy week, will be the times when only the Loop area was closed to indoor and outdoor murder by the mobs—and even then some of the boys forgot themselves and banged away in the city's busy center.

But if Chicagoans, thinking of other days, dust off the old slogans like "Smile, d—n you, smile" or "When you say that, smile," for their Courtesy week performance, the rest of us in this broad and tolerant nation will understand and forgive—and smile.

It feels as if the weather the beach towns had been waiting for has arrived.

Self-Evident

While receiving $12 a day and all expenses from the Republic Steel Corp. for doing labor-spy work, Edward C. Ray served as an active member of an AFL strike strategy committee supervising a strike at the plant of a Republic subsidiary. Mr. Ray told all about it while testifying recently before Senator La Follette's civil liberties committee.

"I never let my conscience bother me," said Mr. Ray, elaborating on the obvious.

Fair Enough

By
Westbrook
Pegler

NEW YORK.—It pains me to say so, but it occurs to me that the press of our country, alert and diligent as it always has been to investigate other elements of the community, almost never investigates itself. We investigate and expose and often reform evils in politics and business, we unmask foul plotters against the peace and purse of the people, and we supplement the police, sometimes to their honest annoyance but sometimes to their guilty embarrassment, in the pursuit of murderers and scoundrels of other kinds. We have goaded bashful prosecutors and governors to their duty, sent grafting myriads to prison, and mounted banks to oblivion broken up gangs, reduced utility rates and with a fairly accurate instinct for the jugular, have denounced cunning and complicated frauds on the taxpayers before or after the fact.

Gentlemen's Agreement
But all this time there has existed among the publishers, with exceptions too trivial to mention, a sort of unspoken understanding or gentlemen's agreement to refrain from investigating rival newspapers or publicizing matters of news interest too well known to require investigation. I do not refer to incidents in the private lives of the proprietors, although there have been such affairs surely no less newsworthy and sensational than similar goings-on in the private lives of comparatively obscure individuals which constitute news by any city editor's rule.

What I have in mind is something on the order of the fearless denunciation of the hypocritical or venal political boss or official. I think that, as a small example, when a paper supports a political ticket with the understanding that it will receive the time honored graft of the public notices, the opposition paper should holler "Copper!" on its rival. Or if a paper hires a professional murderer to organize a gang of killers to fight a circulation war and its rival does likewise the papers of the other towns should send reporters in and give the story a wild ride, the wilder if either of the papers involved should have the audacity to complain of crime in town.

Should Probe Selves
I hope I do not give the impression that publishers are rascals by trade, with terrible records of unrevealed sins, but in a press as large as ours in this country, with ownership or control open to any person or interest with sufficient money, regardless of character or motives, chicanery is inevitable. And the square publishers, having nothing to fear or gain by silence should treat misconduct, hypocrisy and false motives in the press the same as they treat such doings in other lines.

I think the papers ought to take picks on one another in their editorial columns, as editors did in a day before my time, and launder their lines as they go along instead of permitting a whole open market of stuff to accumulate, to be put through the wringer and perhaps torn into shreds by some congressional committee. I think they ought to abandon the clubby mutual forbearance which makes such a rarity of a newspaper story or editorial about another newspaper. In this connection I would say that the story of the bitter fight between the Newspaper Guild and many publishers should have been treated not as a private family feud, but as public news all along. Such suppression gives rise to the suspicion that the press believes in publicity for the embarrassment of everybody and every institution but itself.

HORTICULTURAL NOTE

The minister had illustrated his sermon by saying that a beneficent wisdom knows which of its growths best in sunlight and which of its must have shade. "You know your plant roots in the sunshine," said he, "but if you want your fuschias to grow, they must be kept in a shady nook."

After his sermon, which he trusted would be a comforting one, a woman came up to him, her face glowing with a pleasure that was evidently deep and true. "Oh, Dr. Throckmorton," she said, "I'm so very grateful for that splendid sermon!" And she clasped his hand and shook it warmly.

His heart glowed for a moment while he wondered which tender place in her heart and life he had touched. But it was only for a minute.

"Yes," she went on fervently, "I never knew before just what was the matter with my fuschias!"—Christian Science Monitor.

Propulsion of an unusual water craft placed in operation recently is accomplished by rocking in a chair. The chair is attached to large driving wheels which cause a paddle wheel to revolve at the rear of the boat. A large steering wheel controls directional movements.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Politically, there is one question uppermost in the mind of the country today. Is President Roosevelt a candidate for a third term in 1940?

The intense and widespread interest in this possibility was the most significant feature of his transcontinental tour. Everywhere he went, from Marietta, Ohio, to San Diego, members of his party and newsmen were asked this question again and again.

They were asked at wayside back-platform stops, where only a few hundred were in the crowd, again in big cities where tens of thousands packed the streets in remarkable ovals. Men and women, farmers and workers, businessmen and politicians, everybody was consumed with curiosity on this point.

On a number of occasions the question actually was put directly to Roosevelt himself. The 4,000 members of the Rocky Mountain Fuel and Steel Workers union did so when they handed him a petition at Pueblo, Colo., urging him to run again. Others shouted to him from the crowds: "We are for you in 1940, Mr. President," while there were scores of home-made signs and posters reading "President Roosevelt for President in 1940."

In Los Angeles, during the informal reception on his private car before he left the train to motor to San Diego, an old local friend remarked laughingly: "How is Bruce Barton's campaign for president coming along? We're sure he won't think Bruce will make it," the president chuckled. "He certainly won't if he has to run against you," said the friend. Roosevelt laughed heartily.

The Answer

There is no yes or no answer to this question. The reason is that the president himself does not know.

He cannot say positively and categorically today what he will do in 1940 because it depends on a lot of ifs.

If world war breaks, it is entirely possible that he may seek a third term on the slogan "don't change horses in the middle of the stream."

Another major if is what his opponents in the democratic party will do if they gang up to prevent his nominating a New Dealer to succeed him, it is not impossible that he may go after the nomination himself to prevent them from naming an Old Guarder.

Liberal Successor

On that issue, at least, Roosevelt has emphatically made up his mind. He may be undecided about a third term for himself, but in the matter of his successor there are no ifs, ands or buts.

Either the candidate will be a liberal of Roosevelt's choosing or he will upset the democratic apple cart. He will run himself in that event, or bolt the democratic party and tie up with the LaFollette to put a progressive in the field.

1940 Consensus

In private, the president is keenly 1940-conscious. No one could be otherwise after the spectacular first-hand evidence of his popularity, plus the definite information that his democratic enemies are secretly busy already lining up convention delegates.

In several western states, the president was told by local supporters that Vice-President Garner has made quiet overtures to grab off those delegations.

Roosevelt also was tipped off that Jim Farley has been playing some very subterranean and delicate 1940 politics. No one seemed to know exactly what Jim was up to, but all local leaders who talked to the president were convinced Jim was laying his lines for delegates and that the presidential branding-iron secreted up his sleeve did not bear the initials "F. D. R."

It was strongly suspected on the other hand, that they read "J. A. F." The final answer to 1940, of course, depends on the present primaries.

If the president succeeds in "purging" such leading New Dealer foes as Senator George of Georgia and Senator Tydings of Maryland, the backbone of the undercurrent drive against him may well be broken and Roosevelt, having a free hand to pick his own man, will be content to step aside.

But if his purge flops and the Old Guard returns to Washington next winter stronger and sorer than ever, then Roosevelt in 1940 is a very distinct possibility.

Presidential Protection

Illustrative of the unusual secret service precautions to guard the president during his trip across the country was the arrangement by which relays of state motorcycle police escorted the special train through their states. Thus the train had a motorcycle escort all the way to keep up with the train, the patrolmen often had to hit 80 miles an hour.

At the luncheon given, the president in San Francisco, no one was permitted to enter the dining hall without an overcoat on his arm or package in his hands. Police insisted that all wraps and bundles be checked.

In the open country between towns during the president's 150-mile motor trip from Los Angeles to San Diego, the secret service was armed with loaded rifles, stationed on the ridges of all the hills.

What Other Editors Say

PROBLEMS IN HATS

The phrase, "special privilege," which has come to mean something detested in America, reaches the apex of its meaning in an ancient right still held by Lord Kingsale and his family in England. Marriage of the current Lord Kingsale's eldest daughter recently focused public attention upon the special dispensation enjoyed.

Once King Philip of France challenged King John of England to a duel. King John, who was, to say the least, a timid soul, invited Lord Kingsale, who was in prison at the time, to deputize for him. King Philip forthwith backed down.

"Thou art a pleasant companion," King John told Kingsale when they met again, "and heaven keep thee good in health. Never unveil thy bonnet again before king or subject."

And to this day the members of the Kingsale family, who had nothing whatsoever to do with saving King John's royal bacon, insist upon—and get away with—the right to stand with heads covered in the presence of their sovereign.

In Ammediah anybody's old man—or his son, for that matter—can keep his skyscraper on his top-knot in front of any gink or geezer if he darn well feels like it. There is one special privilege that we don't have to worry about—Seattle Star.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politician and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

SCHOOLS AND MEXICANS

To the Editor: "In times past and even now, the Mexican people are under the impression that certain schools, especially those established near their colonies, are only for Mexican children, and that in any other school, outside of the Mexican settlements, the Mexican children were or are not allowed to attend."

According to the school authorities, and the interpretation of Mrs. Lillian B. Hill, attendance supervisor of the department of education of the State of California, these schools are established not for the purpose of segregation, but merely for convenience of attendance, and there is no reason that parents should think that the Mexican children are not entitled to attend any school near their localities, that they should desire to attend.

I want to make this clear for the benefit of the Mexican population of Orange county.

The idea that rheumatic disease runs in families is pretty old, but it takes on new significance in the light of recent studies by a research team from the children's department of the Johns Hopkins hospital, the Johns Hopkins school of hygiene and public health and the U. S. public health service.

The figures reported by this group, Drs. Frances E. M. Read, Antonio Cicco and Helen B. Tausig, show such a strong family tendency to the disease that it suggests a constitutional susceptibility to the condition. If scientists, following this lead, can find definite characteristics of body build or reaction which are associated with rheumatic disease or can learn the order in which cases develop in a family, it might solve some of the unknowns about this disease and even perhaps point the way to control.

The rheumatic condition under discussion is not arthritis, which also is called rheumatism, but the kind which appears as St. Vitus' dance, rheumatic fever or rheumatic heart disease. The seriousness of the problem is apparent from the estimate that rheumatic heart disease alone kills between 25,000 and 30,000 persons every year, nearly all of whom are under 30 years of age.

Germ infection is considered by most scientists to be the cause of the condition, but cold climate, dietary lack and poor living quarters have also been strongly implicated. The findings reported by Drs. Read, Cicco and Tausig, when added to the American Journal of Hygiene seem to lend some doubt on the environmental factors.

Rheumatic conditions were found much more often in brothers, sisters and parents of rheumatic patients than in those of non-rheumatic children. But the significant thing is finding rheumatic fever almost three times as often among uncles and aunts of rheumatic patients, and almost eight times as often among their grandparents as among uncles, aunts and grandparents of non-rheumatic children.

THE HAPPY MARRIAGES

Each year a million couples marry. In marriage they expect to achieve supreme happiness. At least one-fourth of these couples will be seriously disappointed. For many of them marriage will end in tragedy.

Our studies of thousands of marriages of more than five years' duration in the normal, educated part of the population reveal that of the wife-dominated marriages, 47 per cent are happy; that of the husband-dominated marriages, 61 per cent are happy; and of the 50-50 marriages, 87 per cent are happy.

Our studies also show that two persons brought up in unhappy homes are half again as likely to make their own marriage unhappy, as if they came from happy homes. They start with the wrong kind of pattern.

The chances of success in marriage of an only child are reduced, statistically speaking, by something like 20 per cent.—Dr. Paul Popenoe in Your Life magazine.

I'LL TELL YOU....

By BOB BURNS

I believe we're all human and have the same human traits and do the same things for the same reasons, but some people use fancier terms for it to make themselves sound high falutin'.

Not long ago in a fancy, exclusive ladies' club, they were discussing the reasons why women cry. One after the other they got up and said the reason they cried was to get something out of their systems. Finally a lady rose in the back and said, "Girls, I think it's about time one of us was tellin' the truth about this thing. I don't cry to get things out my system—I cry to get things out of my husband."

Philosophy

Yesterday at the theater, lemonade was passed just before the last act. It was good lemonade—I had a glass. I paid 25 cents for it. The boy carried about 25 glasses. He sold five.

A girl near evidently voiced the sentiment of the audience: "I'd like some but I won't pay five times what it's worth."

The cost of those 25 glasses could not have been more than a dollar; the boy probably made 25 cents. Had he sold all of them at 15 cents, his profit would have been $2.75.

Now, let's dilate on that lemonade. Do you think the management is going after business the right way? I don't. Certainly it isn't making much profit; if it means to serve its patrons as an accommodation, it fails, for it is arousing indignation instead of gratitude.

Business success comes through good will and many sales. Girls, I've been interesting myself in the factors that will aid you. There's one very important qualification that will stand you in good stead in all walks of life and in every line of work. A qualification that any of you can cultivate—charm!

I give you an opinion on the importance of charm from a woman who is in a position to make her opinion count: Mrs. Hortense Odum, president of one of New York City's large department stores. Mrs. Odum declares that charm is an important factor in success. According to Mrs. Odum the components of charm are:

Consideration of others. Tact in dealing with people. Sympathetic understanding. Courtesy. Dignity.

A friendly attitude. "But," says Mrs. Odum, "the source of these qualifications must be within you. They must spring from sincerity."

Well, since charm is so important, and since anyone can cultivate the components of charm, why not get at it?

I have visited many famous rivers. I have stood on the bank of the Arno in Florence, watching legions of bats dart about in the dusk; I have dwelt on the bank of the Seine in Paris; I lived for six months on an island on the beautiful blue Danube, in Budapest; I have traveled for days on the historic Rhine; I have watched the famous Oxford—Cambridge boat races on the Thames; I have crossed the mighty Tiber a hundred times. But none of these rivers compares in beauty to our own Hudson river, flowing through the beautiful Catskill mountains of York, where Rip Van Winkle had his long sleep. A lot of people rush away to Europe sightseeing before they have seen the beautiful sights at home.
